HOLY LAND OFFICIAL ESCAPES INJURY IN ATTACK WITH BOMBS

Four Explosive Missiles Hurlled From Walls in Attempt to Assassinate British District Commissioner of Jerusalem—Sharp Clashes Between Arabs and British Troops

JERUSALEM, Oct. 11 (P).—An attempt to assassinate the British District Commissioner of Jerusalem and a fight against Arab outposts marked the bitter dispute today among Arabs, Jews and British authorities attempting to restore order. Four bombs were hurled at Edward Keith-Roach's auto from the old city walls in front of the Rockefeller Museum. Mr. Keith-Roach, in office since 1931, escaped injury, as did occupants of two military escort cars and a police car which accompanied him.

Reinforcements of British troops were called out in Northern Palestine to assist police in battling an Arab band near Mount Carmel, where in Biblical times Elijah offered sacrifice.

ALL-NIGHT BATTLE
Throughout the night British forces engaged the band, which was strengthened by addition of many Arab villagers. Air force planes were sent up to illuminate the scene with parachute flares.

Troops dispersed the Arabs at dawn, taking five prisoners and confiscating rifles and ammunition. Almost immediately after their arrival from India yesterday, the Royal Scots Greys, one of the last remaining horse regiments in the British army, was called to help in the fight near Mount Carmel.

PART OF REINFORCEMENTS
The Greys formed part of 2,400 troops arriving on three troopships as the advance guard of reinforcements sent to try restoring peace to the troubled Holy Land.

At Lydda, Palestine's main railway junction, twenty-one Arab homes were destroyed by British troops because of recent attacks on military police.

A death toll of five was reported after twenty separate incidents of killing, sabotage, arson, robbery and sniping in the last twenty-four hours.

NANAIMO NO. 1 MINE CLOSING

Equipment Being Dismantled After Continuous Operation Since 1883

NANAIMO, Oct. 11 (P).—Nanaimo's No. 1 Mine is being dismantled this week after having been operated continuously since 1883. On Monday the miners were ordered to bring their tools out, and during the rest of the week machinery, cars, rails, etc., will be removed. Mining has been carried on for more than eight miles under the surface of the harbor and gulf, but now the long haulage has made mining unprofitable, hence the shutdown. At one time an average of 150 horses and mules were worked underground, housed in comfortable stables there, but never seeing the light of day. At the date of closure only twenty-two animals were in the mine, and of these nineteen are being placed in other mines owned by the company, and three are too old for further work.

GETTING OTHER WORK
Most of the miners working in No. 1 on date of closure will be given work in other mines of the company in nearby districts, it is understood.

In 1887, in an explosion, ninety-six white men and fifty-two Chinese were killed. This was the major disaster in the mine's history. The only other group disaster was in 1918, when sixteen men fell to their death as the cage cable broke at the head of Protection shaft, the cage dropping 600 feet and killing every man instantly.

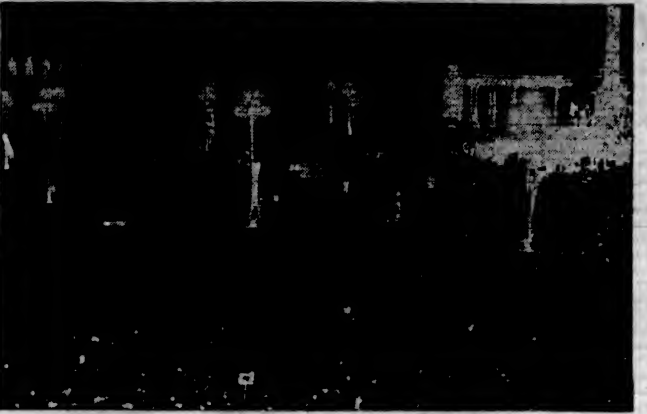

ANGLO-BULGARIAN AGREEMENT COMING

LONDON, Oct. 11 (CP-Havas).—Balkan diplomatic circles reported here today that negotiations for an Anglo-Bulgarian commercial agreement soon will be concluded successfully. It was predicted Great Britain would grant Bulgaria a credit of £20,000,000 ($30,000,000) instead of £6,000,000 as previously predicted. With these funds Bulgaria is expected to buy war materials and railroad material to permit development of mineral deposits now not easily accessible.

Cut Rail Communication With Hankow and Open New Invasion of Canton

Japanese Announce Landing of Forces Somewhere in South China

CHINESE GUERRILLAS WORRYING INVADERS

SHANGHAI, Oct. 12 (P).—The Japanese forces in China were reported to have cut the Northern railway communication with Hankow today, and simultaneously to have landed troops in South China in preparation for a drive on Canton, China's last big coastal city.

The Japanese army and navy, in a joint communique, officially announced their combined forces made a landing "somewhere in South China early this morning." No details were given, but usually reliable sources in Hongkong stated the landing was made at Hachang, in Blas Bay, a few miles north of Hongkong and about twenty miles east of the Kowloon-Canton railway.

ALMOST SIMULTANEOUS
Almost simultaneously Domet (Japanese news agency) announced from the front that Japanese troops long pushing westward north of the Yangtze finally had captured Singyang, Peking-Hankow railway town 100 miles north of Hankow and a key objective of the Central China drive.

Significance of the two reported manoeuvres lay in the fact that a Continued on Page 6, Column 6

Premier to Holiday in West Indies

NEW YORK, Oct. 11 (P).—Prime Minister Mackenzie King and Dr. O. D. Skelton, Canadian Under-Secretary of State for External Affairs, sailed from New York tonight for a fortnight's holiday in Bermuda and the West Indies.

"Our plans still are indefinite," the Prime Minister said. "I think we will stop a few days on Somerset Island."

"Fine breakers there," he said, explaining his choice of the small tale near the northwest tip of the Bermuda. "Then I believe we will go on to Jamaica."

Border Towns Are in Symbolic Occupation By Hungarian Troops

More Czechoslovakian Territory Changes Hands—Recovery of Thousands of Square Miles Expected by Hungarians—Stay Negotiations

PRAGUE, Oct. 11 (P).—Hungarian troops today completed symbolic occupation of two former Czechoslovak border towns—Ipolyzag and Satoralja Ujhely—pending complete settlement of Hungary's territorial and minority demands in a conference at Komarom.

The Prague Government wrestled with problems arising from German occupation of Sudetenland, particularly the presence in Czechoslovakia of 16,000 refugees from Sudetenland.

COMMITTEE INVESTIGATES
The Bohemian Provincial Government appointed a committee of ten former residents of Sudetenland to investigate registration lists and determine which refugees could be sent back to their homes without personal danger.

More than 4,000 residents of Ipolyzag, near the border, fifty miles north of Budapest, sang and danced to Hungarian music as the Hungarian troops took over at 1:30 p.m. today.

FOURTEEN PERSONS LOSE LIVES IN FLAMING ONTARIO FORESTS

Three Others Perish When Widespread Fire Sweeps From Northwestern Part of Province Across Border Into Minnesota—Wind Adds to Fury of Destructive Flames

All Residents Removed From Large Area Hard Hit by Blaze

FORT FRANCES, Ont., Oct. 11 (P).—Menacing flow of flaming timberlands dulled somewhat tonight in fire-stricken Northwestern Ontario and Forestry Branch officials and Provincial Police, who counted fourteen dead, believed they had evacuated all other families from the blazing sector.

Two women and ten children of the families of three La-belle brothers, homesteaders in Dance Township, fifty miles northwest of Fort Frances, were among the fourteen dead. The toll along the fire-swept international boundary was raised to seventeen by the death of three men on the northern rim of Minnesota.

Flames slumbering in scattered districts since early September fanned to terrifying fury yesterday before a south wind. Heavily timbered areas of Dance Township, which on Monday stood against the skyline, were smouldering acres of charred stumps today. But Chief Fire Ranger William Darby said tonight "the situation looks somewhat better."

AREA IS EVACUATED

By nightfall all families were believed removed from threatened areas across the fifty-mile front. Though the fires blazed furiously still, no further loss of life was believed threatened. Complete evacuation of all areas in the danger zone has been enforced. Families are being rushed to safety upon the least provocation.

Tents were set up in fire-free sections as temporary shelter. Food is being rushed to these tent settlements from Fort Frances. Truck-loads of refugees are arriving here hourly, and a fund to assist the needy has been opened. Relief Officer Michael Morrison, of Fort Arthur, is in charge.

RESCUED AFTER TRYING ORDEAL

Girl Clings Nine Hours to Dead Tree Overhanging Precipice

FORT WILLIAM, Ont., Oct. 11 (P).—Story of a sixteen-year-old girl who clung to a dead tree overhanging a 400-foot precipice for nine hours and her rescue yesterday by Constable A. Francis, of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, was told here today.

Doris Cockburn and Rita Page, both sixteen years old, narrowly escaped death during the week-end when they lost their way while descending from the 900-foot summit of Mount McKay, three miles from Fort William.

WENT FOR HELP
Miss Cockburn, trying to reach a ledge, found herself unable to get either up or down. Her companion told her to hang on to a dead tree while she went for assistance.

Miss Page left her companion at a lookout on Sunday night and after a harrowing two hours in descending the mountain she reached an Indian Mission at midnight and brought a rescue party.

By the aid of flashlights, police from the foot of the mountain were able to locate the position of the girl and directed the workers up the mountain. Constable Francis was lowered 150 feet by a rope from the first ledge of the mountain. Four constables held him as he pulled Miss Cockburn to safety.

LONDON, Oct. 11 (P).—A British news agency (Reuters) dispatch from Prague tonight said encroachments on Czechoslovak territory by the German army of occupation were reported from several parts of the new frontier. IRISH FACTIONS END LONG DISPUTE OVER BOUNDARY.
BELFAST, Northern Ireland, Oct. 11 (P).—Northern Ireland's Republic and Nationalists in a four-hour conference tonight ended their long feud over methods of fighting for a united Ireland. They agreed to form a united front and start a new campaign to abolish the border separating them from Eire. It is Mr. de Valera's aim to "rescue" his "Irish brothers" by gaining abolition of the border.

His Majesty Sends Gracious Message in Reply to Prime Minister

OTTAWA, Oct. 11 (P).—The King and Queen are "greatly looking forward" to their visit to Canada next Summer, His Majesty said in a reply to a cable from Lord Tweedsmuir expressing the joy of the Canadian people in the coming visit. The messages were made public here tonight.

The Governor-General cabled the King on Sunday: "The Prime Minister has asked me to send to Your Majesty and to Her Majesty the Queen, with my humble respect, an expression of the great pleasure felt by himself and his colleagues at Your Majesty's gracious consent to visit Canada next year. "The statement attributed to Dr. Carrothers that the price of gasoline will be reduced within the next ten days seems incredible," said Mr. Pidgeon, explaining his comments were of a personal character, rather than representative of the views of his company.

Benes Asked To Stand for High Office

GLASGOW, Oct. 11 (P).—Members of the Scottish Nationalist Association, who earlier today announced former President Edvard Benes of Czechoslovakia had agreed to be their candidate for the rectorship of Glasgow University, tonight decided they had been made the victims of a hoax.

The Czechoslovak Legation in London denied the earlier announcement. Dr. Benes had agreed to be a candidate for the honorary post, saying he had "not even considered the invitation yet."

The rectorship is an honorary post, carries no salary, and entails no residential duties. Scottish university rectorships have been held in some years by distinguished foreign statesmen.

Russia Developing Republican State Claims Journalist

Carleton J. Ketchum, K.C., Canadian-Born Fleet Street War Correspondent, Addresses Meeting Of Women's Canadian Club at Empress

DEVELOPING along the lines of Stalin's belief that it was possible to build up a prosperous socialist state without fermenting world revolution, Russia, in five years' time, would emerge "an average republican state, very much like France," prophesied Carleton J. Ketchum, K.C., Canadian-born Fleet Street special and war correspondent, speaking to a well-attended Women's Canadian Club at the Empress Hotel yesterday afternoon on "Russia Since the Revolution."

Mr. Ketchum, who has been touring Canada under the auspices of the Association of Canadian Clubs, spoke of Russia from personal experience gained during five winters spent there since 1922-23, the year the country was still in the throes of the post-revolutionary famine.

Communism as a doctrine of government had been abandoned in Russia, he claimed. They were developing a system today which was outright state capitalism. Russia's ruling Communist Party of 2,000,000 members had complete control.

RECENT CRISIS
The lecturer began with a survey of the recent European crisis, in the course of which he said that had Russia gone to war on the side of Britain and France in connection with the Czechoslovakian affair, she would have made a substantial contribution to the cause of Democracy.

She had a standing army of 1,000,000 men; a reserve of between five and six hundred thousand, and a state police organization, "the gay-pay-oo," always convertible into a military force, numbering another 1,000,000. Within one year of a war Russia, which had put 22,000,000 men in the field in the Great War, would have mobilized 5,000,000 men, he believed.

Now that the crisis had been averted, Russia would revert to her policy of "Stalinism," or "Socialism in one country," turning her back on European commitments and concentrating her energies to the development of her vast sociological experiment within her own boundaries. The purpose of such a policy was the making of the country 100 per cent independent of foreign states in so far as imports were concerned, both for the present and in the event of future European conflict.

NO UNEMPLOYED
While Russia was pictured as having no unemployment problem, Mr. Ketchum had no hesitation in expressing his dislike of the country's present-day employment system because unemployment had been "liquidated" under a system of semi-impressed labor which had little parallel in other lands. He quoted Stalin's slogan: "He who would live must labor; he who would live must perish," enunciated in 1928 when the first Five-Year Plan, was inaugurated. Under this system, people were "trained" at the State expense, for whatever job the country wanted those people to fill, whether the worker liked the job or not. The system, suggested the speaker, would not commend itself to Canadian or British mentality, even if it meant the solution of the present unemployment problem.

Russia had achieved one of her great principles in the development of a classless society, with equality of the sexes. Mr. Ketchum specially stressed the importance, to the democracies of the world, of the interlocked position held by Russia with trades union congresses in every quarter of the globe.

WOMEN'S POSITION
Mr. Ketchum spoke particularly of the position of women in Russia. Russian women were today as free as any women in the world. They had, under the Soviet State, the fullest political, economic, legal, and social equality with men—equal rights and duties in marriage, equal opportunity in education and government. No job was closed to them.

Forty-two per cent of all persons gainfully employed in Russia were women. More than 30,000,000 women were working on the collective farms under the Soviet. This, at an earlier time, had relieved men from the land to go into industry. An equal number of women were employed in industry. More than 1,000,000 held some form of public office in the State; 400,000 were elected members of Soviets; 400,000 were members of local government commissions; 112,000 were co-judges.

COMMISSION TO STUDY ALBERTA OIL INDUSTRY
EDMONTON, Oct. 11 (C)—A Royal Commission composed of Mr. Justice A. A. McMillan and Major L. R. Lipsett, of Ardley, Alta., to investigate the Alberta oil industry, prepared tonight for an early opening of sittings to hear evidence and study production costs and retail prices to consumers. The first sitting is expected to take place in Calgary on October 17.

Man Shot Dead In Mistake for Moose in Bush
SHOT in mistake for a moose, Martin Moore, of Decker Lake, succumbed to his injuries at Smithers on Sunday, according to wireless reports to the Provincial Police yesterday. Mrs. Hilda Moore, also of Decker Lake, was being questioned by the police in connection with the fatality, details of which were not received here. Both parties had been hunting in the bush.

In the courts: more than 100,000 were members of managing boards of co-operatives. Women, in fact, constituted 32.2 per cent of the membership of city Soviets.

Reference was also made to the movement on the part of Russia's leaders to reinstate the dignity of the institution of marriage. Alarming decline in the birth rate under the easy system of divorce that prevailed in the early Soviet State was responsible for the move to encourage the home life which had been abandoned under the communal arrangement. Something was also said about the gradual return of the church. While it was definitely against the law to have religious teaching in Russia, the church having been entirely disestablished from the State, people could practice their religion if they wished. The State, on the other hand, was trying to defy Lenin, Mr. Ketchum stated.

Mrs. Harold L. Campbell, the president, was in the chair, and a very delightful musical interlude was furnished by Miss Winnifred Applegate, a singer with a beautiful fresh young voice, whose two solos, accompanied by Mrs. C. G. Warr, were greatly appreciated.

FOURTEEN DEAD IN FLAMING FORESTS

buildings, schools and personal effects have disappeared in the holocaust. Estimates say at least thirty homes were evacuated in Dance Township.

One of the most serious fires burning now is near Off Lake, forty miles north of Port Frances. Fighters are concentrating their efforts there to keep the blaze from spreading to Clearwater Lake, in the heart of the tourist and hunting country.

Constable David Hamilton, of the Provincial Police, who found bodies of the Labelle family victims scattered along the road near their homestead, said fire rangers visited the Labelle home several days ago when the flames were five miles away and urged the families to flee. Apparently they did not attempt to seek safety until yesterday—too late.

TEN IN HOSPITAL
In addition to the fourteen dead in Ontario, ten are in hospital here with serious burns. The dead in Ontario: Mrs. Violeta Labelle, thirty-three, wife of William Labelle, and her five children, Abigail, two; Robert, four; Arthur, six; Violeta, eight, and Margaret, eleven.

Mrs. Sadie Labelle, twenty-seven, wife of Noah Labelle, and her four children, Florence, two months; Calvin, three years; Walter, five, and Charles, six.

Maxine Labelle, eleven, daughter of Frank Labelle, and an unidentified man.

DEATHS IN MINNESOTA
Three men lost their lives across the border in the Minnesota flames. They were Fred Service, sixty; Orville Williams, and Joe Cardin, sixty-five.

Doctors and nurses, summoned to Port Frances, cared for Noah Labelle and two children; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Labelle and their two children; Robert Peterson, fifty-two; Nat Lavergne, forty-four, and an unidentified elderly man.

The Labelle brothers were fighting the flames when informed their families had been lost in the inferno, which reached its peak between 1 and 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon. They rushed to the spot where their cabin homes once stood, and succeeding in getting Frank's children to safety, but Maxine was so badly burned she died at Port Frances.

TWO TOWNS THREATENED
The rains checked advance of the fire on Rainy River, where residents today were unable to see the flames, which at one time advanced to within half a mile of the town. They also roared through the forest land to within a mile of Port Frances yesterday.

Police officers and fire-fighters were rushed from Port Arthur, Dryden, Kenora and Sioux Lookout. Officers sped through birch-kneed, charred districts seeking persons unreported. One report said about thirty were yet to be located near Rainy River.

Doctors were kept busy treating burned hands and faces as residents struggled to save once beautiful farm homes. Communication with various points was cut off, with bridges burned, and telephone and telegraph lines cut by the searing heat.

Says Empire Policy Would Be Tested at Next Dominion Vote

F. S. Cunliffe, Conservative Candidate for Nanaimo Riding, Addresses Saanich Association Here—Says Election May Decide Canada's Future

CANADA'S position, as a self-governing dominion within the British Commonwealth of Nations, would be tested at the next Federal election, was the political prediction of F. S. Cunliffe, Conservative candidate for the Nanaimo Federal riding, in an address to members of the Saanich Conservative Association at their annual meeting in the Campbell Building last night.

Mr. Cunliffe declared the major issue in the Dominion voting would be whether the future of Canada would be with the British Empire or with the United States. He maintained that for the last three years every major problem of the Dominion had been considered from an American viewpoint. The question before the people of Canada, he said, was "do we stay with the British Empire or strike out on an isolationist policy and end up with making Canada a political appendage of the United States?"

BRITISH PROTECTION
The speaker criticized the policy of the present Prime Minister of Canada for inability of the Government to deal effectively with problems of general interest to the future of Canada and Canadians. The Prime Minister, he said, often had referred to collective security. "It seems to be always that someone else should furnish the security and we do the collecting. How can we hope to build up a national spirit on that assumption? We must be ready to do our bit and not always be on the receiving end." Mr. Cunliffe stated he was referring to protection of Canada by Great Britain.

CRISIS IN EUROPE
Speaking of the recent crisis in Europe, Mr. Cunliffe said he would refer briefly to "the part Canada did not play in those hectic days when, at the time of a great crisis, the British Government was carrying the load for the whole Empire. From all parts of the Commonwealth assurances were forwarded to Prime Minister Chamberlain, but in Canada were placed in the humiliating position of being inarticulate without a word of encouragement. The only word sent to Great Britain was from the Prime Minister of Canada, who expressed interest in the conference between Chamberlain and Hitler. The action was in line with the inactivity of the Canadian Government in matters of importance affecting Imperial relations."

OFFICERS ELECTED
Prior to Mr. Cunliffe's brief address, the association elected its officers for the year, which resulted as follows: President, Percy Mickleburgh (re-elected); first vice-president, Russell Twining; second vice-president, Mrs. L. H. McQueen; third vice-president, T. H. Butler; secretary-treasurer, Mrs. G. E. Giles; auditors, A. R. Sherwood and F. T. Fatt. W. O. Wallace and John Patterson were elected members of the executive committee.

Presenting his report for the past twelve months, Mr. Mickleburgh referred to the importance of youth organization and the need for efforts to secure youth support of the policies of the Conservative party. The report of the secretary-treasurer was given by Mr. Patterson.

triangular course. After confused starting signals, the two schooners drifted along, beam to beam, so close together a member of Bluenose's crew reached out and patted Thebaud's main boom.

When the contest was called off, Bluenose was leading Thebaud by about a mile. At 2:15 p.m. (P.S.T.), with only a minute remaining and about fifteen miles of the thirty-six-mile course unsailed, the race committee came alongside to notify Captain Pine the race was ended and to ask him if he would sail tomorrow.

SHARP CRITICISM
Captain Pine roundly criticized Captain Charles M. Lyons, of the committee, for permitting the contest to continue long after it was obvious the boats had no chance of finishing within the six-hour time limit.

Pine said if Captain Walters agreed he would refuse to race tomorrow because he wanted to give his crew a day's respite.

OAK BAY FIREMAN TENDERED BANQUET
Chris Usher, Oak Bay Avenue, a member of the Oak Bay Fire Department, was tendered a banquet Saturday night at the Oak Bay Fire Hall by fellow members of the department on his departure from the force.

Mr. Usher, who had been with the department since its inception six months ago, was presented with a car lamp by fellow members for his valuable service to the department.

The presentation was made by Fire Chief E. G. Clayards, who wished Mr. Usher the best of luck in his new adventure. Deputy Chief J. Newall also complimented Mr. Usher on his past work and expressed his best wishes for the future.

VANCOUVER, Oct. 11 (C)—Funeral services will be held Wednesday for Mrs. J. Alexander Paton, wife of J. A. Paton, M.P.P. for Vancouver—Point Grey, and member of a pioneer British Columbia family. She died in hospital here Sunday.

Mrs. Paton was born at Cowichan, B.C., and came to Vancouver when a child with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Angus Carmichael Fraser. Her mother at one time received the Good Citizenship Medal which is presented each year by the Native Sons of British Columbia to the most outstanding citizen in Vancouver.

PLAN DEBATE ON PENSIONS

Civic Employees Are Uneasy Over Turn in Superannuation Measure

Plans are being made by the City Hall Officials' Association and the Civic Employees' Federation of Greater Victoria for meetings to discuss the new Superannuation Bill. It is understood the bill will be presented to the Provincial Legislature this month.

Many employees recall the words of Hon. Dr. G. M. Weir, Provincial Secretary, when he said last August of the present Superannuation Act: "The Act must either be revised or dropped altogether."

A balance sheet of the special reserve fund in the municipal division of the Act showed a deficit of $1,291,000 as at March 31, 1937.

SALARY NO MEASURE
Length of service, rather than salary, will be the basis of computing pensions under the new Act. A municipality will be required to provide a pension on the life plan of $360 per annum for twenty years' service, with an additional amount for service longer than that period.

Employees will be required to contribute not less than four per cent of their salaries, and may pay up to eight per cent depending upon their ages on entering the new plan. Provision will be made for an increased annuity on retirement by the payment of ten per cent.

City employees who are already in receipt of pensions are anxiously awaiting further details of the new plan. It is expected that some will receive more than their present allowance, and some less. Reports indicate one section of the plan contemplates refusal of any pension for less than twenty years' service, except for physical disability.

Money that Stays at Home ... and Builds!

Last year the Oil Companies of British Columbia paid these taxes:

Sales Tax	$1,083,880
Provincial, Corporate, Municipal and School Taxes	179,120
	*$1,263,000

* This figure does not include the 7c Provincial Government Road Tax on gasoline or the 1/2c per gallon tax on fuel oil.

And last year the Oil Companies spent in British Columbia:

Direct Payrolls	$2,487,762
Supplies Purchased	2,244,000
Freight Within the Province	2,128,934
	$6,860,696

Or a combined total of $8,123,696.

Figures ordinarily make dull reading. But we ask you to consider for a moment what this eight million dollars means.

It is half the annual output of our fisheries industry in British Columbia. It exceeds in value our annual production of copper; it is three millions more than our yield of silver. It is nearly double the value of our Okanagan apple crop.

A large share of this eight million dollars goes to support the machinery of government, but more than $6,800,000, you will observe, flows into the commercial lifeblood of the province, creating employment, paying good wages, buying supplies of all kinds, providing work for railway and transport men—in fact, stimulating business everywhere and making better times.

The petroleum industry is vital—creative—in tune with the times. It must have a fair reward for its accomplishments if it is not to be hampered or restricted in its service.

Urges Setting Up of Provincial-Wide Body To Control Utilities

Reeve Alex Lockley Presents Version of Franchise Conference—Confirms Offer of Short-Term Extension of Street Railway Service

THE opinion that a provincial-wide public utilities commission should be created without delay, in view of the "unsatisfactory position in which we now find ourselves" in connection with the transportation franchise question, was expressed by Reeve Alexander Lockley in a report which he presented to the Esquimalt Council last night concerning the franchise in Vancouver between representatives of the City Council and the British Columbia Electric Railway Company.

Before reading his report, the Reeve stated that the Esquimalt Council had no intention of entering into the present controversy, it was his wish that the good friendship which now existed between the council and the mayor and aldermen of the city and the company should be preserved, he said.

REEVE CROUCH CONCURS

Reeve Lockley stated that immediately following the meeting in Vancouver, he had made notes in his hotel. These he had shown to Reeve William Crouch, of Saanich, who was willing to sign them as correct.

THE North Wind Blows!

When winter comes, and the north wind blows, and the mercury drops will your home be warm and cozy or will it be chilly and uncomfortable?

It can be warm and comfortable if you take steps now to have adequate heating—a "Dominion" Heating system.

An "Arco" boiler of proper size will give you efficient burning for coal or, if you prefer a jacketed boiler, the "DoRed" coal or "DoRed" oil-burning boilers will provide an efficient and neat-looking boiler. Either of these with "Corto" radiators can constitute a well-balanced and draft-free heating system which will be a joy to you every day of your eight months' heating season.

Another important advantage of a "Dominion" heating system is that it can be extended at any time to include air-conditioning with radiator heat by the addition of an "Arco" Air-conditioner.

The "Arco" conditioner will circulate correctly humidified and thoroughly filtered air throughout your entire house.

If you are building a new home be sure to specify a "Dominion" heating and conditioning system. city relying entirely on the report as compiled by Mr. Beck.

"Mr. Beck complained that he had not been given the required information by the B.C. Electric Railway Company. Mr. Murrin, in reply, admitted that he had not and would not give any information to such an investigation, as he said it was un-Canadian, not judicial, and was without doubt prejudicial to the company, and likened it to a combination of prosecutor and judge combined. Mr. Murrin pointed out that the figures and partial report of Mr. Beck, which had already been made public, and upon which the whole foundation of this interim report was built, were entirely wrong, and gave rather conclusive facts to prove his statement.

"There were very conflicting opinions expressed as to the status of the city and the company in regard to Goldstream and other matters, and in my opinion, extensive litigation will follow unless the two sides become more reconciled and appreciate to a far greater extent than they do now the claims and desires of each other. An unfriendly feeling seems to have developed, which is not only very unfortunate, and tends to make exceeding difficult to arrive at a practical and peaceful settlement of the whole question.

GOLDSTREAM AGREEMENT

"In regard to Goldstream, the company, who now has an arrangement with the city from month to month, has desired of securing possession for a longer period, and expressed their willingness to sign an agreement, if such an agreement was satisfactory to the city, but Mr. Murrin said that this was entirely a matter for the city to decide. The company would make no definite statement as to its final attitude in regard to the taking up of the existing tracks.

"I believe from what I learned at the meeting that a reduction may be made in the near future in light and power rates. The company is now compiling data for a full report at an early date.

"The company made a very definite statement in regard to a continuance of its transportation system.

EXTENSION OFFERED

"Mr. Murrin stated that if a request was made by the city to continue the present system for two, three, four, or even five years, they would be pleased to do so, and further promised a better conditioned system, and no advance in fares; but, he said, the company would not consider a long franchise. When questioned by a Victoria alderman as to how much the company would spend in the suggested improvements, Mr. Murrin was non-committal.

"The progress of these negotiations and investigations to date and the unsatisfactory position in which we now find ourselves convinces me more than ever that a provincial-wide public utilities commission should be created without delay, and I sincerely hope that at the next session of the Provincial House the necessary legislation will be passed.

MR. BECK'S REPORT

"Mr. Murrin disclosed the fact that although it was ten months since he met the mayor and council, no meeting or discussion of any nature had since taken place, the after allowing reasonable capital charges and a fair legitimate profit. Specially does this apply to those utilities that get their supply from the natural resources of the country.

"Considering the aforementioned problems as they affect Esquimalt, we shall have to make every effort to get full advantage of any reduction that may be made in power and light, and see that this applies to the whole district.

LINKED WITH CITY

"In regard to transportation, we are of course somewhat tied up to any arrangements the City of Victoria may make, but whatever transpires, an effort should be made to use Johnson Street bridge and get a service that will cover those parts of our municipality that are not now being served by transportation. Nothing would be a greater incentive to the building up of these districts, which comprise some of the most beautiful residential sites we have to offer.

OUR THANKS ARE DUE TO THE MAYOR

"Our thanks are due to the mayor and aldermen of the City of Victoria for so kindly allowing us to attend this meeting.

Signed: "A. LOCKLEY, Reeve."

THANKSGIVING IS MISNOMER

Rev. J. L. W. McLean Thinks Under Conditions Name Might Be Altered

The Thanksgiving services under the auspices of the Victoria Ministerial Association, held in First United Church at 11 o'clock Monday morning, were well attended. The service was presided over by Rev. P. Comley, of St. Alban's Church, and president of the association. Rev. J. Lewis W. McLean, pastor of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, preached the sermon, taking as his subject, "Why Not Abolish Thanksgiving Day?"

It was in no antagonistic spirit that Mr. McLean approached the subject. He traced the history of Thanksgiving Day back to the coming of the Pilgrim Fathers to America. It was a real thanksgiving event that was set up then for the mercies of God to this band of settlers after religious freedom.

The speaker, however, pointed to the difference nowadays respecting the subject. He traced the history of Thanksgiving Day back to the coming of the Pilgrim Fathers to America. JURY FREES CAR DRIVER AT ASSIZES

Robert Lionel Eccles Found Not Guilty of Man-Slaughter Charge

SHERIFF SUPPRESSES APPLAUSE IN COURT

After deliberating from 5 to 5:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon, a jury at the Fall Assizes found Robert Lionel Eccles not guilty of a charge of manslaughter. The charge arose out of the death of Royston Goodwin Perkins, seventeen, from injuries received on May 27 when the accused's automobile struck the Island Highway at Palmer's Station Road and crashed through a fence.

Applause rang out from the gallery in the court as the jury delivered its verdict to Mr. Justice D. A. McDonald. Sheriff H. W. Goggin sternly exclaimed: "Order, order."

Eccles was represented by F. J. Sinnott, M. B. Jackson, K.C., was the Crown prosecutor.

Members of the jury were Arthur Rigby (foreman), Francis J. Ferguson, Eric W. Philbrook, Henry James, Edward Adams, John M. Scouler, John Ardwin, Patricia Davenport, John Ewing, Ernest W. Ockwell, Edwin A. Irving and John D. Maltman.

ENTERS PLEA

Eccles, in a clear voice, pleaded not guilty when the charge was read by Oswald H. C. Barton, deputy Supreme Court registrar.

Frederick G. Aldous, the first witness called by the Crown, identified a plan he made of the locality of the accident and gave technical data.

Evidence of meeting Eccles at the View Royal Service Station was furnished by Beacham George Patrick Colclough. He visited the scene of the accident and conveyed Perkins to the Jubilee Hospital, accompanied by Eccles.

Mrs. Hilda M. Clarke told the court she heard a loud noise, three bumps and a crash. Then somebody called out three times: "Are you hurt, Roy?" She found Perkins standing in a daze beside an overturned car and assisted him until the arrival of Mr. Colclough.

Identification of two fence posts and two pieces of plank found projecting through the windshield of Eccles' car was provided by Constable William Cameron Murray. He investigated the accident accompanied by Constable Frank Pomeroy, Provincial Police.

DESCRIPTS TEST
Constable Murray stated he was present on May 30 when Eccles' car was tested. He said the brakes and steering mechanism were in good condition.

Dr. Walter Baply, who attended Perkins late on the evening of May 27, at the Jubilee Hospital, said he found a piece of wood forced up through the boy's nose to the base of his brain. Miss Margaret Coutts, a nurse at the hospital, identified the wood removed from Perkins' head.

Dr. Gordon Alex McCurdie, who performed an autopsy, testified to the cause of Perkins' death. He also identified the wood.

Frank Pomeroy, a former member of the Provincial Police, corroborated the evidence of Constable Murray in regard to the accident investigation.

Details of an examination of Eccles' car on May 30 were given by Constable William James Christensen, Provincial Police mechanical supervisor. He swore that he drove the accused's car at thirty and forty miles per hour past the spot where it left the highway on the night of the accident, and found brakes and steering apparatus in first-class condition.

CASE FOR JURY
When the Crown closed its case, Mr. Sinnott made an application to withdraw the case from the jury. He maintained there was no evidence of gross negligence on the part of Eccles. Mr. Justice McDonald stated the case was one for the jury to decide.

Placed on the stand by his counsel, Eccles stated he was a machinist by trade and had driven automobiles for five years. He offered to drive Perkins to Wel's Beach early on the evening of May 27, and when nearing Palmer's Station Road on the Island Highway, the steering gear of his automobile suddenly seized up.

He was unable to prevent the car from leaving the highway when it got completely out of control, he testified. It hit a fence, and two pieces of wood tore through the windshield. Then the machine turned over. He helped Perkins out and saw that he was injured. His next move was to seek help, Eccles testified.

DENIES SPEEDING
Cross-examined by the Crown prosecutor, Eccles denied that he was driving over thirty miles per hour. He steadfastly denied that excessive speed prevented him from taking a curve on the highway. He admitted that he did not apply the brakes, explaining that the accident happened in a flash.

Harry I. Bickerdike, automotive engineer, gave technical evidence on the cause of a steering gear temporary jamming. Reginald Gerrard corroborated Mr. Bickerdike's statements.

In his summary, Mr. Sinnott admitted it was an unfortunate accident. He stated there was no evidence upon which the Crown could show gross negligence or wanton misconduct.

Mr. Jackson submitted that the steering gear on Eccles' car did not seize up. He asked jurors to satisfy

Superannuations Plan to Receive Cabinet Review

RETURNED yesterday from Ottawa, where he was one of the British Columbia Government mission, Hon. Dr. G. M. Weir said he had nothing to announce. Asked if the Province would recommend creation of a separate superannuation commission under Norman Baker, and a revised municipal pension scheme, Dr. Weir said the Cabinet had not yet considered the matter.

themselves if an automobile could possibly career across the highway, tear up a fence and roll over at a speed of thirty miles per hour or less.

In summarizing the evidence, Mr. Justice McDonald directed the jury: "The Crown does not ask you to find the prisoner guilty of manslaughter. You may, if you see fit, find Eccles guilty of a lesser charge. You may find him guilty of criminal negligence, or find him not guilty. You must be unanimous. If there is any reasonable doubt, he must be given the benefit thereof."

At the luncheon meeting of the Kiwanis Club yesterday in the Empress Hotel, John Meredith was presented with the $100 scholarship awarded by the club to the pupil of Victoria College showing the best all-round qualification for the year. Dr. S. J. Willis, Deputy Minister of Education for B.C., expressed the privilege that the Kiwanis Club felt at thus being able to encourage good work by a pupil of the college. He said that this expenditure by the club paid a better dividend than perhaps any other money spent.

He congratulated the recipient of the prize, alluding to his high standing in the first year in college, which was supplemented by him in the second year by the development of leadership on a high plane.

Dr. Willis said that Victorians were proud of the college and its accomplishments. It was the only seat of higher learning on Vancouver Island, and was doing excellent work. He thereupon presented Mr. Meredith with the cheque for $100 from the club.

RECIPIENT'S THANKS
John Meredith, in accepting the prize, thanked the club for it, stating that he would always remember the event as a high honor done him. He paid a compliment to the Victoria High School and the Victoria College for the advantages which had come from attendance at both institutions.

Dr. Percy H. Elliott, principal of the college, expressed appreciation for the kind words spoken for the College by Dr. Willis. He followed with a reference to the work that was done at the institution. There was the endeavor made, he pointed out, to have the students assist in the carrying out of the discipline of the student body from the body itself. In no small measure the discipline of the students passed into the hands of the students themselves.

PROVE ALL THINGS
He said that in his lectures he had advised on the part of the students the cultivation of the critical mind. He even advised them not to take any statement he made for granted, but to investigate for themselves the correctness of that which was advanced. He advised the young people to prove all things, and thus make for more originality among them.

President J. G. MacFarlane supplemented the congratulations of Dr. Willis and Dr. Elliott conveyed to the prize winner, and added his good wishes to Mr. Meredith.

Mrs. W. H. Wilson contributed vocal selections, with Mrs. C. C. Wain as accompanist.

J. H. Beatty appeared from the committee in charge of the Community Chest drive, and made a request for endorsement and support by the Kiwanians, which he felt sure would be granted as in the past in such good work. This was heartily endorsed on motion.

Other invited guests present were Professor E. S. Parr, of Victoria College; Principal H. L. Smith, of Victoria High School, and Principal D. H. Hartness, principal of the Oak Bay High School.

CONVICTION IS QUASHED
TORONTO, Oct. 11 (C.P.)—The Ontario Court of Appeal today decreed four men and three women convicted of unlawful assembly at Lakeview last April by Judge W. M. Munro, at Brampton, were wrongfully convicted. The court allowed the appeal and quashed the conviction. The charges were laid on instructions of Premier Mitchell Hepburn.

ESQUIMALT LIBERALS
The Esquimalt Liberal Association will hold its monthly meeting this evening at 8 o'clock in St. Paul's Parish Hall. Nominations for officers will be held. All members are urged to attend.

TOOK NO PART
"The two Reeves were present at the pleasure of the city of Victoria, and were not expected to take part in the discussions, but rather to gather at first hand the result and progress of the negotiations and investigations as they stood at this date, and to advise their councils accordingly."

"It was decided, upon the objection of Mr. Murrin, that no stenographic reports of the meeting be made so as to give more latitude and a freer discussion of Mr. Beck's report and other pertinent points that were bound to be brought out."

"Mr. Murrin, however, made the statements that, if he were requested to do so, he would be pleased to put in writing answers to any questions that may be put to him that were pertinent to the issue."

"Mr. Murrin also took exception to the by-law passed by the city of Victoria appointing a public utilities commission, as he said the company had been legally advised that the city had no power to create such a commission, and that this meeting was not officially recognizing it."

"Companies that are dealing in absolute public necessities such as fuel, light, power, transportation, etc., should be subject to a control that will give the public the very best and cheapest service possible."

NO OBJECTION TO HOLIDAYS
Mr. McLean declared that he had no objection to holidays as such being provided, but he felt that perhaps it would now be better to designate this as a holiday and not as a thanksgiving day. If it were a holiday for pleasure, why persist in calling it by the name of Thanksgiving when a very small proportion of the population made use of the day in that manner?

Allusion was made to the grounds for fervent thanksgiving to God for the many mercies which were ours as a nation and individuals. Included among these was that of freedom from war. The only solution, Mr. McLean pointed out, from the troubles that had to be faced in the world, and which pressed so hard upon so many, was really to be found in the deepening of the religious life by the individual.

The others taking part in the services of the day were Adjutant Charles Watt, of the Salvation Army, who read the lesson; Rev. Bryce H. Wallace, who gave the opening prayer; Rev. Dr. A. S. Imrie, who offered prayer following the offertory, and Rev. Hugh A. McLeod, the pastor of the church, who pronounced the Benediction.

There were present a number of the choir members of the church, who led in the singing of the congregational hymns.

Rev. Mr. Comley, on behalf of the Ministerial Association, thanked the management of First United Church for the use of the spacious edifice for the purposes of the meeting.

COUNTERFEITER IN EDMONTON ARRESTED
EDMONTON, Oct. 11 (C.P.)—Pleading guilty to a charge of making counterfeit Canadian coins, Cecil Torjussen was remanded for sentence to October 18 in police court here today. Torjussen was arrested on Saturday night by City Detectives Herb Graham and Val Taylor during a search of a downtown rooming-house for suspicious characters.

The detectives said Torjussen had nearly $26 in "bad" money on his person when arrested. Several moulds, alleged to have been used in making spurious 50c and 25c coins, were seized along with a number of unfinished cast slugs. The moulds, slugs and finished coins all bore the date 1917.

FEWER MOTOR CARS ARRIVED

Customs' Figures Show Decline in Tourist Traffic For September

A decrease of approximately 10 per cent in the number of foreign cars handled at the ports of Victoria and Sidney up until September 30, in comparison with the same period last year, was shown in the figures of the Dominion Customs here provided to the Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau. However, the number of Canadian cars handled was represented by a 3 per cent increase over the same nine-month period in 1937.

Total number of foreign cars handled was 3,068, as compared with 3,415 last year. The number of Canadian cars so far this year was 1,094, while 1,055 were handled in 1937.

These figures are interesting in view of the 20 per cent increase shown in auto travel for Victoria up until the end of August over the corresponding period in 1937. Officials of the bureau said yesterday, "It is clear that owing to prevailing conditions, the Summer travel left earlier this year than in 1937, resulting in the decrease noted above."

Baker said that the superannuation fund administration would be placed in the hands of a commission including representatives of the Provincial Government, municipal employers and employees and headed by himself. The existing fund is administered under the Provincial Secretary's Department.

RETIREMENT AGES

Under the new plan, retirement ages would be increased by five years, with compulsory retirement at sixty-five. Permissive retirement age for firemen would be fifty-five, for women employees sixty, and for male employees sixty-five years.

The minimum requirement for pensions, except in cases of employees in active service at the time the new act comes into effect, would be twenty years' service. The act would be entitled to pension after less than twenty years' service, and their allowance would be in proportion to their years of service.

BURSARY PROPOSED

The meeting adopted a suggestion that a convener should be appointed to convene the possibility of raising an annual bursary to assist needy members of the A.Y.P.A. studying at the Anglican Theological College.

A special A.Y.P.A. opening ode for all branch meetings was adopted. Resolutions were passed expressing regret that Rev. E. O. Robb, and Norman Southcott, last year's immediate past president, were unable to attend the conference, and expressing thanks to all those who had assisted with the conference and the entertainment of the delegates.

At the first meeting of the new provincial council, Benjamin Moyle was appointed to take charge of the collection of information regarding the use of the Bible in schools.

Jack Mumford, president of the New Westminster diocesan council, presided over luncheon in the Memorial Hall, and later the delegates heard an address on the Oxford and Edinburgh youth conferences, by Rev. Harding Priest, Western field secretary of the General Board of Christian Education. A discussion period followed the address.

Later in the afternoon the visiting delegates were taken for automobile drives through the city and environs.

How To Overcome Piles And Rectal Soreness

If you are annoyed with itching piles or rectal soreness, do not neglect the same or run the risk of an operation. Any itching, soreness or painful passage of stool, is nature's warning and proper treatment should be secured at once. For this purpose get from MacFarlane and Vancouver Drug Stores, or any druggist, a package of Hem-Roid, and use as directed. This formula, which is used internally, quickly relieves the itching and soreness and aids in healing the sore, tender spots. Hem-Roid is a physician's prescription and is highly recommended. It is easy to use, and it seems to have the benefit of fully relieving the irritation when a simple remedy, which is so pleasant to use may be had at such a reasonable cost.

Ship Brings Big Cargo of Gold

NEW YORK, Oct. 10 (AP)—The S.S. President Roosevelt steamed into New York Harbor from Europe today with what was believed to be the biggest cargo of gold ever brought here in a single ship. The vessel carried 914 boxes of gold bars in her hold, the value of which was unofficially estimated at around $51,000,000.

INVESTIGATE SHOOTING

SMITHERS, B.C., Oct. 10 (AP)—British Columbia Police tonight were investigating the death of Martin Mostue, Decker Lake farmer, shot while picking berries Sunday near his home in the Burns Lake district. Mostue, sixty-five-year-old Norwegian, came to British Columbia from Minnesota eighteen years ago.

ONLY REAL FRIEND

He hailed Premier Mussolini of Italy as Germany's "only real friend," and then, without mentioning names at that point, gave Prime Minister Chamberlain of Great Britain and Premier Daladier of France credit for efforts to maintain peace.

"The experience of the past eight months," he said, "shows we must strengthen our determination and be careful to leave nothing undone for our security and rights."

"There are those abroad who do not want peace. The construction of their states is such that men of peace can, at any time, be supplanted by others."

"Supposing after Chamberlain here came Cooper or Eden or Churchill? They are men who would like to make war."

(Alfred Duff Cooper resigned as First Lord of the Admiralty, October 1, and Anthony Eden resigned as Foreign Secretary, February 20, both in disagreement with Mr. Chamberlain's foreign policy. Winston Churchill, former British Cabinet minister, is an outspoken Conservative member of the House of Commons, who has criticized Chamberlain.)

Hitler continued: "We must, therefore, always be ready for peace, but in every hour prepared for defence."

"I have, therefore, decided to continue to build up our fortifications with increased intensity."

"I will now include two districts—Aachen and Saarbrücken—in the fortification chain."

"On the other hand, I am glad to be able to say that certain elements of security necessary in these past critical weeks and months will be rescinded in the next few days."

"Reservists will be discharged. I am happy to thank them here today for what they did."

VIENNA, Oct. 10 (AP)—Duke Maximilian Von Hohenberg, and his brother, Prince Ernst, have been freed from the Nazi concentration camp at Dachau. It was disclosed today. DISCUSSION DEADLOCKED morning, Hungary was expected to occupy tonight the Czechoslovak railway junction of Satorajka Uhely, just across the border from the Hungarian city of that name and about 120 miles northeast of Budapest.

Hungary will occupy tomorrow, it was expected, the town of Ipolyvas, fifty miles north of Budapest. These two occupations were agreed upon at the conference last night to symbolize good will of the Czechoslovakia.

PURE HUNGARIAN REGIONS

Budapest sources said Hungary was demanding surrender unconditionally of about 6,178 square miles of "pure Hungarian regions" along Czechoslovakia's southern border. Czechoslovakia also agreed last night to release all Hungarian political prisoners.

The Prague Government also promised to discharge immediately all Hungarian speaking soldiers from the Czechoslovak army.

MANY AMENDMENTS AT COMING SESSION

cation of insurance plans in other countries were continued by the Health Insurance Board during the year.

UTILITIES BILL

While details have not as yet been disclosed, the Public Utilities Bill is expected to be a blanket measure, setting out the heads under which any subsequent utilities board would have authority; and leaving specific regulation to be achieved later by order-in-council, as is now being done in connection with the Coal and Petroleum Control Board.

Superannuation schemes under continuous stress for ten years, and amended a few years ago with respect to the provincial civil service, are expected to be opened in connection with municipal pension rates and conditions. Privately through municipal channels, the Province has been circulating what is believed to be a proposed draft of the major terms of the new pension scheme, involving drastic changes. Under separate head, the Teachers' Pension Act may be re-opened, after discussions pointing in that direction last summer.

REDISTRIBUTION

In amendments to the Constitution Act the Province is said to be considering a general realignment of the boundaries of electoral ridings, without numerical change in the forty-eight seats in the House. At the same time, revision of election machinery may be brought in, with elimination of the absentee ballot system at least likely to be suggested to a special committee of the Legislature when the bill is introduced.

The Industrial Conciliation and Arbitration Act, passed at the last session, and under fire since from influential labor groups, will probably be offered for amendment. The weakness in the present statute, labor circles have contended is that an official award is without any final authority.

Attorney-General Wismer has spoken of changes in the Motor Vehicle Act, whereby seizure of automobiles pending settlement in collision cases may be worked into the law. There are a number of other points at which the existing statute may be revised. Although requests for compulsory insurance of vehicles have been made, there has been no indication yet that the Province will go that far at the coming session.

BEER AND WINES

Beer and light wines for public dining rooms, three times before the Liberal caucus in the past session, is sure to be revived, with modification of club licenses hinted at in official circles, and a referendum.

Cracksmen Batter Open Office Safe At Dalziel Plant

THIEVES who smashed open a safe in the office of the Dalziel Box Company's plant at 2800 Bridge Street early yesterday morning stole a quantity of cash and $5 worth of stamps. Constable George Clayards discovered the burglary at 3:55 o'clock. Detective Inspector J. H. Rogers found two large hammers and a steel punch, picked up at the plant, had been used to batter open the safe. Detective David Donaldson made an examination for finger prints. Vancouver Island police were requested to apprehend a man seen in the vicinity of the plant by Detective Henry Jarvis at 1:30 o'clock in the morning.

End of the clubs already taken on that point

Forest policy, revision of irrigation and lands agreements, changes bearing on the responsibility of municipalities for indigents and hospitalization, and many other matters may become the subject of amendments to existing statutes. The Municipal Act itself will undergo its annual revision, after committee review.

TAXATION

Fiscally, it is said that the Province will present a budget balanced on current account, with a continuation of the policy carried out in the last five years.

Whether taxation changes will be suggested or not is something that has not as yet been disclosed.

Through the Province has asked both for validation of existing third-party taxation, and for the use of a sales or turnover tax; delayed settlement of Dominion-Provincial rights and responsibilities may have to come first. It is in this field that the Rowell Commission is expected to make some direct representations to the Dominion later in the year. Adjustment of taxation on insurance companies is proposed.

MARRIAGE ACT

Invited to deal with the Marriage Act, and having set up an advisory committee with that end in view, the Province may present legislation revising licence insurance. Whether or not the proposals will extend to physical examination before marriage is still an open question.

Other legislation, for the most part, will include routine amendments to legislation already on the statute books; coupled with the usual quota of private bills, and public bills in the hands of private members.

Vancouver City will raise the issue of quota licences for Orientals in Canada.

So far as may be ascertained at present, municipal areas under commission control will remain that way and no application for the discharge of the commissions is expected at this session.

THE INDUSTRIAL CONCILIATION AND ARBITRATION ACT, passed at the last session, and under fire since from influential labor groups, will probably be offered for amendment.

The weakness in the present statute, labor circles have contended is that an official award is without any final authority.

ISSUES IN NEW ZEALAND

On October 15 elections of New Zealand will go to the polls to return the Labor Government of Premier Michael Savage or displace it by electing the Nationalist Party of Mr. Adam Hamilton to power. Mr. Hamilton's chief lieutenants are Mr. J. Gordon Coates and Mr. G. W. Forbes, former Premiers, who formed the coalition which went down to defeat before the Labor Party in 1935. Foreign policy and defence questions are important issues, though there are few essential differences on these. The chief issues are domestic matters, such as social legislation and agricultural policy.

The country is experiencing a heated and bitter campaign, with 176 candidates contesting the eighty seats of the House of Representatives, and the outcome is difficult to predict. While defending the record of the Administration, which includes a long list of sweeping enactments in the field of social reform and industrial government, the Government forces have sought, without great success, to divert attention from the attack of the Opposition on domestic matters by making one of its chief points a declaration supporting the principles of the League of Nations Covenant, coupled with the fullest co-operation with Great Britain.

Immediately upon assuming office, the Labor Party embarked on a sweeping programme of social legislation, which resulted in the introduction of a forty-hour work week, applicable on decision of an arbitration court, holidays with pay, a minimum wage scale, increase in relief payments, compulsory arbitration of industrial disputes, organization of all workers in various trades unions, and agricultural legislation aimed at stabilizing prices and facilitating marketing. Other legislation brought about reorganization of the nation's currency and credit system, including outright government control of the State Reserve Bank, with power to negotiate and trade in Government finance. The programme of social legislation reached a climax several weeks ago with the passage of a social security bill designed to care for all those "in need, sickness or any other adversity."

The Nationalist Party proposes to rationalize much of the social legislation and "restore personal freedom and legitimate rights of private enterprise." Financial assistance would be given to young married couples to enable them to purchase their homes with loans. A ministry of social welfare is promised. No cuts in wages or pensions would be allowed, and the arbitration court would be retained. The Social Security Act, which the Opposition contends, because of the £7,000,000 required, cannot be financed, would be made operative. Instead, the party would provide a national superannuation scheme, and complete health services would be made available for those unable to pay. Other promises include abolition of compulsory trade unionism, pensions for widows and orphans, free maternity service, restoration to the farmer of the right to sell at his own price, increased land settlement, assistance to manufacturers, and the abolition or reduction of certain taxes.

A landslide of Labor votes placed the present Government in power, and at dissolution the party standing was Labor, 53; Nationalists, 20, and Independents, 7. Only a complete swing of the pendulum would place the Nationalists in office, and while there has been evidence of growing opinion against the Government, it is doubtful whether it will crystallize into a force sufficient to defeat the three-year-old Savage regime. The Social Security Act, despite the fears that it will "break the country" if it becomes operative next March as planned, probably will bring the Government considerable support.

A GLANCE AT COMMUNISM

The Communists have certainly contrived in recent years to place their views and proposals prominently before the public. The precise meaning of some of these proposals is not clear. Perhaps their import is left purposely vague. The methods of Communist advertising are well known. There are loud and confident assertions, carefully chosen phrases and slogans, appeals to envy and greed, and mass-suggestion stimulated by repetition and reiteration. There is, however, a fatal defect in it all, which accounts for its failure to convince the average man. It does not make sense.

Nevertheless, the agitation goes on in books, magazines and manifestos addressed to individuals. One of these manifestos has recently been analyzed in the sober old Atlantic Monthly by Wilson Follett. Mr. Follett is neither a politician nor a professional economist, but a man of letters with a wide range of interests. His analysis of Communist theory takes the form of a "Letter to a Communist Friend," and his conclusions are well worth reproduction in a brief summary.

According to Communist theory, on the one hand, there is a "Class Conflict" in progress. It is to be intensified, and the eventual "Classless Society" is to be ushered in by the annihilation of the last vestige of capitalism, under a proletarian dictatorship. According to common sense, on the other hand, there are no two such distinct classes as capitalists and wage slaves. A man may be and often is a wage earner in one relation and an employer of labor in another. A "third" man is often an investor. The functions of laborer and capitalist, or of producer, distributor and consumer are often performed by the same individual. The "Classless Society" is, in fact, creating itself before the eyes of the Communist, while the Communist denounces and tries to destroy everything that is engaged in the process. The Communist is still thinking about the cruel child-labor that existed in England when Marx was writing, but that and the chattel slavery that existed elsewhere in the nineteenth century were abolished under capitalism. The Communist is asked to explain how it came to pass that as capitalistic method increased and flourished, "the pitiless exploitations diminished, were obliterated, became in the eyes of all men revolting and unthinkable."

Mr. Follett invites the Communist to consider a simple problem in "economic planning." The problem was to purchase four off-size stove bolts which Mr. Follett needed to replace the panes of sashglass in the fire door of a cooking range cast in Otter River, Massachusetts, in 1875. He went into a hardware store in Bradford, Vermont, and purchased the very bolts he needed. The transaction involved a tiny profit for the profit-motivated seller and certainly profited the buyer. Under a "planned economy" the People's Commissar for Production and Distribution of Stove Bolts would have to know all about the production of and the demand for stove bolts, "all the common and most of the uncommon uses of every gauge, length, thread, every size and shape and thickness of nut, all about the construction of stoves, all about the mining, smelting, production and replacement and repair of machine tools, transportation, mechanical education." No Commissar could possibly assimilate one-thousandth part of the information that his staff of investigators would gather together in the skillfully condensed reports which would be necessary for the rudest sort of workable plan, even for the production of stove bolts. In short, a "planned economy" by Communist experts is an impossibility, not because the Commissar is a Communist, but because he is a human being. A nation-wide economy cannot be planned on a workable basis, because there is a certain quality that is necessary for such a plan, a quality that no expert and no synd of experts possesses, namely, omniscience.

The profit system works without any pretence of omniscience, without a vestige of "economic planning." The profit motive, if Mr. Follett's reasoning is sound, is the most powerful force in the economic world, and the forgotten mainspring of the whole Communist economic clock. Communists are hard put to it when they face the task of defending the loss of liberty of speech and action in the totalitarian state. Their method of approach to this awkward question is to declare that this feature of their system is really a blessing in disguise. Mr. Follett thinks that the blessing is disguised indeed when it comes to expropriating small independent New England farms and combining them into a few vast collectivized units to be run under state supervision for the production of an exportable surplus. Disguised it would certainly be for the dispossessed occupants of those New England farms when they were "tumbled into cattle cars," seven thousand at a haul, and "whisked away to serfdom in the oil fields of Oklahoma and Texas," to be treated "almost as kindly as plantation slaves once were, and even re-educated ideologically in night schools lest they remain too benighted to be properly grateful!"

LORD HAWKE

Wherever the game of cricket is played the name of Lord Hawke is known as that of a great sportsman. A cricketer of an age which many still living remember has died leaving behind a record that will always remain a bright spot in the annals of the game. Not only was he a first-class player, but a remarkable organizer as well, and Yorkshire's foremost place in county cricket owes much to the years when Lord Hawke was a member of its eleven. Lord Hawke, too, did yeoman work in popularizing the game all over the Empire, and wherever he went he was recognized as the embodiment of what cricket stands for in the world of sport. Because of his association with the game he was a national figure in England. There is no name more prominently inscribed on the roll call of Yorkshire's famous players, or in the record of the M.C.C.

NO NEUTRALITY

The Attorney-General of Australia says: "As long as the British Empire remains constituted as it is today, it is impossible for Australia to remain neutral in any war in which Great Britain is involved." It is equally impossible for any part of the Empire to remain neutral, despite the academic discussion on the question at a recent session at Ottawa. A declaration by overseas Parliament of neutrality in a war in which Great Britain were engaged would mean nothing, because, for one thing, it would be wholly disregarded by an enemy of the Empire. That is the consideration more than any other that makes it impossible for any part of the British Empire to be neutral when Great Britain is at war. In such a situation it is the plain evidence of facts that is superior to any declaration. Apart altogether from that aspect of the eventuality of war, the constitution of the Empire, as Australia's Attorney-General says, makes it impossible for any part of that Empire to stand outside the issue of Imperial inviolability.

We cannot conquer fate and necessity, yet we can yield to them in such a manner as to be greater than if we could—Landon.

Note and Comment

By Sandham Graves

Astronomers have a way with them. Take the popular lecture programme of the Victoria Centre of the Royal Astronomical Society of Canada, for example. Victoria's evenings under the stars this Winter are to include talks on "Space Travel," "The Age of Giants," "Pacific Coast Storms," "Mars, Our Neighbor," "Is There Life on Other Planets?" and several other topics. That is rich, imaginative fare, in a field so comparatively new to the public; that it embodies all the fascination and delights of a new world, though this is a very old world indeed. Seeing the success of the lectures, and the patient care that has gone into their preparation, one is moved to wish that other sciences had been so forehanded in carrying, at least, a basic understanding of their missions to the public. For if science has any meaning at all, it is as pathfinder on the highway of humanity, marking out trails that will one day be followed by mankind. Nor is there any field of human endeavor more directly on the main stem of progress towards understanding the natural tools placed at man's hands, so that he may one day make the best use of the world, so long ago created and prepared for his enjoyment. For science has both its uses and abuses, and it uses are constructive. One of the surest ways of understanding this world which we live in is to compare it with others; and that, in a nutshell, is what astronomy has done, how to do it. It is all gain, and no loss, to be led towards an appreciation of what astronomy offers: as it would be all gain, and no loss, to be given popular insight into the fields in which other sciences move. Victoria is to be congratulated on an opportunity that will continue to open until May 2, 1939, when the present series of lectures will close.

I know a street of thirteen houses where for two decades people have worked out this curious puzzle we call life. There have been rejoicings and sorrowings, hope and despair, sunshine and shadow, in a bewildering and changing panorama, never for two days alike. The street has known good times and poor times, gay days and grey days, and in all respects such a cross-section of life as you may find on any other street, and in any other town. It has known death by drowning, and death by fire. It has seen men and women crippled in the use of those facilities upon which must depend their sustenance, their daily bread. It has seen toddlers grow to manhood and to womanhood, with all the hope and enthusiasm of those newly entering the open world. It has witnessed mourners following their last resting places the remains of those who comprised perhaps all of the inward sunshine of several lives. No one could look on that street, nor on any other street, without mingled feelings. Clear on the top must come admiration for the bravery of human beings, doggedly meeting the best of what little hope and encouragement life has vouchsafed to them. Close to that will come compassion, in the realization that life often is hard and unyielding, and mankind ill-prepared for the succession of reverses which fate at times brings in unending succession to the door. Next will come the sure knowledge that there are times in the lives of everyone when they need a helping hand, an encouraging word. It is not possible to cure the ills of the world overnight, but man through various agencies is attempting, and must continue to try, to redress the ills of the world. Next will come a little merited, soon now you will be asked to support one such agency: the Community Chest. Could you but know the facts, you would not need to be asked, for you would come forward and volunteer. I know a street of thirteen houses. On it people very much puzzled in this curious game called life. Have there been no puzzles in your life?

It is easy to bear the afflictions of other people with an equanimity that would be lacking if we, ourselves, were so visited. Paris, in common with one half of the world, had a war scare the other day, and 6,000 miles from the scene took it very casually. Bear in mind that modern airplanes know very few boundaries, and then read the instructions given to the people of Paris while the European crisis was at its peak. Hurdled printed leaflets, with the following message: "Everything possible will be done to stop enemy airplanes. Nevertheless, some may pass. Do not wait until they are over you. Leave, if there is nothing to keep you (in Paris). Leave with you family until the danger is over. Do not block traffic at the last moment. Do not wait—leave."

One third of the people of Paris were evacuated into the country within the first few days of the crisis. In London, it was the same. In Berlin, Prague, and many other centers, the same form of message "do not wait out, and the same large-scale plan of evacuation was contemplated. For the most part, people obeyed the summons, and left the cities. Happily, the crisis passed. Supposing, however, one of those leaflets had been placed in your hands. What would you have done? How easily we bear the perils of another!

Letters to Editor

No letter to the editor will be inserted except over the proper signature and address of the writer. This rule admits of no exception. No letter should exceed 300 words in length.

THE COMMUNITY CHEST

Sir,—From what I hear I am sure that the whole City of Victoria is one hundred per cent behind the Community Chest, and that our people, one and all, are determined that the Chest Campaign shall be an unqualified success. Victorians have always been ready to help in a good cause, but I do not recall any previous community effort which was so unanimously supported. Last year the Community Chest was something new in Victoria and was on trial. During the past twelve months it has completely proved its value, never mind how you look at it. I have not found one man or woman opposed to it, but, on the other hand, have met many who did not support it last year, but are going to do so today.

There is not a city in Canada or the United States of any size—certainly not of the high standing of Victoria—but has a community chest, and Victorians have a member that the admiration and organization of their Community Chest are being held up as examples to be emulated.

Our Community Chest won a high place last year in the estimation of people living in other cities. Let us, one and all, give according to our individual ability so that this year's campaign is an even greater success than that of a year ago. VICTOR MCKINLEY, 1215 Montrose Ave., Victoria, B.C., October 5, 1938.

THE LAW'S ANOMALIES

Sir,—The Germans are taking Sudeanland and our tax collectors, marching in real goose-step style, are conducting their tax sales, by the power and majesty of our law. A people, our municipal sense has been rudely shocked by the scrapping of treaties beyond the bounds of our Empire. Do we realize that such expressions as "Unto thy assigns forever," and "Is absolutely and indefinitely entitled in fee-simple," in our Conveyances and Certificates of Indefeasible Titles, are not conditional upon a tax sale for any cause whatever?

Some many years ago, when conducting a history period I was much surprised at a student's question which doubted Watt's right to be called the inventor of the steam engine. A careful search of authorities showed that the student was right. Such an outstanding textbook as "The Story of World Progress," by West and Eastman, refers to the Magna Charta of 1215 A.D. as "the first great document in the history of English Liberties." Are we aware that the provisions of this Act do not apply in British Columbia? John Hampden's "ship-money case, 1637," closed with this deliverance by the Chief Justice, "There is no power to check the King's authority over his subjects—their persons or their money—for no Act of Parliament makes any difference." How many of us have thought of Cromwell's rebellion put an end to despotic power and raised up the great documents, guaranteeing English liberties, to be supreme! On this basis the Mother of Parliaments has only a hypothetical or conditional power, which must conform with the great documents lest it be legally held as a traitor to its trust. My legal advisers say, "Not so. Parliament now has the same power that the King

World's Champion Player and Greatest Card Analyst

Few defensive problems are more baffling than the question of what card should be led from an income sequence. Of course, as a blind opening lead, the top of sequences such as Q 9 7, J 10 8 6, 10 9 7 5 is always the proper selection. This, however, does not necessarily apply to a situation such as is described in the following hand:

NORTH		SOUTH
4 3 2	AKQJ9	AKQ9	10 3 4
AK5	854	10 3 4	AKQJ10
AK5	854	AKQ9	10 3 4
AK5	854	AKQ9	10 3 4

The bidding:
North East South West
Pass Pass NT Pass
3 NT Pass Pass

West opened the ten of diamonds (the top of an interior sequence), declarer played low from dummy and won in his own hand with the jack. He then laid down the club king. East won with the ace, and since he had no more of his partner's suit, did not have to consider the virtue of that return. Obviously, a spade lead was called for, and on the superficial thought that the top of an incomplete sequence was the correct lead, East selected the jack. Declarer covered, West won with the ace, and, since his own diamond suit was hopeless, returned a spade. Declarer's remaining K 9 overlay East's 10-8-7, and, of course, East could take no more tricks in the spade suit. Declarer, at his leisure, knocked out the heart ace and claimed the balance. Admittedly, the lead of the spade jack is enticing, but analysis shows hand in Tuesday's column.

Glancing Over Sport

With world series topics holding away these days, it's good to glance back over some of the brilliant plays and records of the past. For instance, the unassisted triple play by Bill Wam-bagness in the Cleveland-Brooklyn series of 1920, and the homer by Elmer Smith with the bases loaded in the first inning of the fifth game of the same series. Twice Babe Ruth called his shots and belted three circuit drives in separate Fall classics for the standing feats, which would take a column to tell about. Horton Smith, well-known high ranking professional golfer, who is liked very much in this city, walked the fairway road of matrimony the other day. It looks like the Washington Huskies of this season are through as far as the Coast and records of the past. Conference championship is concerned. Their 13-0 defeat at the hands of U.C.L.A. last Saturday marked their doom. So it's basketball night tomorrow evening at the High

"Yes," said Simpkins as the visitor turned the leaves, "that's my wife's second cousin's Aunt Susan. And that's Cousin James, and that—oh, who do you think that is?"

"I don't know," replied Sanderson. "Well, that's my wife's first husband, my boy," said his host.

"Great! Great! What a perfectly brainless-looking idiot. But, excuse me, old fellow, I didn't know your wife was a widow when you married her," said Sanderson.

"She wasn't," said Simpkins stiffly. "That, sir, is a photo of myself at twenty."

Get Wise to Constipation!

When you're constipated, it's a great temptation to be satisfied with quick relief. But physics may become a habit. And they don't keep constipation from returning. It's so much better to get at the cause of the trouble.

If you eat what most people do, chances are the only thing the matter is you don't get enough "bulk." And "bulk" doesn't mean how much you eat. It means a kind of food that isn't consumed in the body, but leaves a soft "bulky" mass in the intestines and helps a bowel movement.

What to do? Eat a little Kellogg's All-Bran for breakfast every day and drink plenty of water. This crunchy toasted cereal is not only rich in "bulk," it also contains the natural intestinal tonic, vitamin B. All-Bran is made by Kellogg in London, Ontario, sold by every grocer.

BOND EXCHANGE TO BE SPEEDED

Time Lapses for Filing Notice of Appeal Against Ruling of Court

No further test of the validity of Victoria City Debt Refunding Act (1937) is anticipated. Friday marked the deadline on which notice of appeal could be filed.

Last December 10 the act was passed by the Provincial Government, giving the city authority to exchange approximately $15,000,000 worth of outstanding debentures for new refunding bonds.

In a Supreme Court judgment handed down on May 6 this year, Mr. Justice H. B. Robertson declared the Refunding Act ultra vires.

On June 7 the British Columbia Court of Appeal reversed Mr. Justice Robertson's ruling.

NO NOTICE FILED

As anticipated by Mayor Andrew McGavin, no notice of appeal against the Court of Appeal ruling was ever filed.

A number of bondholders were advised by a special committee in Eastern Canada to delay the exchange of their bonds for the new city refunding debentures pending the possibility of an appeal.

Now that no appeal is possible, the exchange of old bonds for the new debentures is expected to be accelerated.

DOMINION FILM PRODUCED HERE

"Woman Against the World" Was Made in Victoria for Columbia Pictures

Stark, vivid drama, building up to a powerful climax, is presented in "Woman Against the World," a Columbia production, which will open today at the Dominion Theatre, with Ralph Forbes and Alice Moore in the starring roles.

Both stars appear in striking characterizations. Miss Moore, who in real life is the daughter of Tom Moore and Alice Joyce, both silent screen stars, portrays a young mother fighting for her child, and Forbes contributes a finished performance as the attorney who aids her in winning her fight for justice.

David Belman directed, with just the right sentimental touch, extracting all of the story's emotional values without ever becoming maudlin.

COLUMBIA Don Ameche will thrill you in the role of Jack O'Leary, of Chicago's famous family, who battled his own brother for the city he loved. "In Old Chicago," now at the Columbia Theatre, features the radio-screen favorite with Tyrone Power and Alice Faye.

Mayor Urged to Launch Fund for Refugees' Relief

MAYOR Andrew McGavin yesterday received a cablegram from Sir Harry Tryford, Lord Mayor of London, requesting him to launch an appeal in Victoria for funds for the relief of refugees from Czechoslovakia. Mayor McGavin will refer the matter to the City Council.

SUNDAY SCHOOL WORK REVIEWED

Successful Convention Held Here in Fairfield United Church

The Sunday School convention promoted by the Victoria Presbytery of the United Church of Canada, and held in the Fairfield United Church, proved very successful.

Rev. Norman Grees, minister of the church, was in the chair and opened the convention at 2:30 o'clock in the afternoon. Rev. A. E. Whitehouse led a brief devotional service.

Professor E. S. Farr gave a challenging address on "Sunday School Life Today," appealing to Sunday School teachers to fully consecrate themselves to this important work.

Miss Maureen Whitehouse contributed a solo, Mrs. D. A. Girvin, Duncan, gave a stirring address on temperance.

At 5:30 p.m., about seventy Sunday School workers sat down to tea, and a happy hour of fellowship was enjoyed. Following the tea, Miss Muriel Wright gave particulars of an imaginary trip to Palestine, taken by a group of Junior pupils, showing the excellent map which they made. R. Harris displayed some posters illustrating hymns, also made by juniors, and Miss Wilma Cranley described a Christmas project with kindergarten children. All these were much appreciated by those present.

At 7:30 p.m., Rev. J. E. Bell led in a brief devotional service. Mrs. James Hood and Miss Grace Baker each gave an inspiring address dealing with the teaching of missionary material in the Sunday School. Rev. Horace Burkholder, general secretary of Christian education for the provinces of British Columbia and Alberta, addressed the gathering, showing the need of teachers constantly training themselves for their great task.

PLAN INCREASE IN FIRE WAGES

Drivers of Apparatus May Receive Extra $1.75 Per Month Soon

Following a meeting of the fire wardens Friday afternoon, Alderman Archie Willis stated the City Council would be urged to grant firemen drivers an increase of $1.75 per month, to become effective on November 1. Another small increase will be suggested next year.

After discussing drivers' wages with the fire wardens, a delegation from the Provincial Association of Fire Fighters thanked the wardens for their hearty co-operation and interest in the local department's welfare during the past nine months.

Copies of a report of Alderman Willis on the recent fire chiefs' convention at Salt Lake City were distributed in order that recommendations might be given careful study.

PROPOSE TAILOR

Alderman Willis said the wardens would ask the council to investigate the possibility of employing a full-time tailor to make fire department and police uniforms.

A report informed the wardens that alterations to the old Victoria West Fire Hall would cost $600, whereas only $300 had been set aside for the work. It was decided to discuss the matter with the Salvation Army, which organization intends to rent the building.

No decision was reached on the appointment of a new fireman. The wardens agreed to submit three names to the council for balloting.

Canadian Exporters Appreciate the Work Done Abroad

by Canada's Trade Commissioners

THE old saying "Trade Follows the Flag" might, in Canada's case, be changed to "Trade Follows the Trade Commissioner". Certainly these able men that Canada has sent to Empire countries and foreign lands have played an important part in the building up of Canada's immense export trade. Just how important may be realized by extracts taken from a few of the many letters recently received by the Department of Trade and Commerce. These letters being confidential, the exporters' names have been omitted.

These Letters prove the worth of this Service

February 23, 1938.—"Our Company has always received valuable help through the office abroad of the Trade Commissioner Service during the years we have been building up our export connections and I can assure you that it has been very gratifying indeed to us all."

May 11, 1938.—"We sincerely appreciate the efforts of the Canadian Trade Commissioner in South Africa in opening up the market for us in that country."

April 25, 1938.—"We certainly have nothing but the highest words of praise for the great co-operation we receive from your Department and from the Canadian Trade Commissioners everywhere."

March 19, 1938.—"Your efforts in our behalf on this matter are highly appreciated and confirm our opinion that the Canadian Trade Commissioner Service is second to none in the world."

Mar 3, 1938.—"It is impossible to reply to this communication without expressing congratulations on the extremely thorough manner in which the information was transmitted to us. It bespeaks well for the efficiency of your Department and is very much appreciated."

April 13, 1938.—"In view of the services and assistance rendered us by your Trade Commissioner and his staff in Kingston, and the Commissioner and his staff in Port of Spain, the writer, on behalf of these services, would like to compliment your Department in the personnel and ever-ready and willing assistance extended us by these respective officers."

They Helped To Provide Employment

Canada's Trade Commissioners furnished several thousands of trade reports during the last fiscal year to Canadian firms seeking to enlarge their export trade. They assisted Canadian exporters to make many new connections that brought 22 millions of new business to Canada—business that helped provide employment.

MAPLE BAY IN VICTORY

Score 6-2 Triumph Over Esquimalt to Win Polo Trophy

Playing a beautiful brand of polo both on defence and on the offensive, H. Carberry, of the Maple Bay polo team led his squad to a decisive 6-2 victory over the Esquimalt Centaurs in a five-chucker game played at the Maple Bay grounds, yesterday. The victory left Maple Bay still the possessors of the Cowichan polo trophy, symbolic of the island championship.

Early in the first chucker the Bays scored on a free shot by Carberry, after the Esquimalt defence, MacDonald, made two spectacular saves. Shortly afterwards a well-timed combination play between Captain J. D. McKenzie and Miss Wheeler, resulted in another Bay goal. In the second chucker, Carberry rang in another sixty-yard shot to make the count 3-0 against Esquimalt.

An Esquimalt rally in the third chucker found Captain B. Deane Freeman bashing home a penalty shot with Alex Lonsdale, Royal Oak, another fast goal for the trailing team. Miss Wheeler scored again for the Bays on a clever pass from Matterson. In the fourth canto Matterson shot home a long drive with Carberry, the winner's high score, repeating to make the final count 6-2. The fifth and last chucker went scoreless.

The first noticeable effect is a lessening of the subject's power to control his thoughts and actions. His dominant or outstanding characteristics—gentleness, fear, boldness—are greatly increased. Thus the genial or kindly man grows more fond of his fellows, the quarrelsome one wants to fight even more, the timid one becomes more fearful, and the criminal becomes more bold.

The remote effect of the drug on the victim's personality that his hatred of others or society in general, and his brutality, are greatly increased. It is not the drug that puts the idea of crime into his mind, but the crime instinct already within him is let loose, the chains of restraint being removed by the use of the drug.

"When used daily in large quantities the direct action upon the brain often causes chronic mental deterioration."

While the drug may not be habit forming in the case of morphine or cocaine, nevertheless its use will let him behave in an abnormal manner much to his later distress and embarrassment. It is not too much to infer that many of us, if there were no home or social chains to hold us, might commit some serious crime when under the influence of marihuana.

ADDITION TO THE DRUG MARIHUANA

You have been reading much in the newspapers regarding the drug marihuana because its use is causing a great increase in crime. Police authorities practically everywhere have been empowered to prevent the sale and distribution of it except under a physician's prescription.

In The American Journal of Medical Sciences, Dr. N. S. Yawger discusses the effects of addiction to this drug. The plant is widely distributed and has numerous valuable commercial uses. Its fibre is made into twine, rope and bags. It yields a rapidly drying oil useful in the manufacture of paints, varnishes, soaps and linoleum. It has been used for the relief of pain, in treating, to overcome nervousness, and to create a feeling of well-being. It is used usually in the form of cigarettes.

The first noticeable effect is a lessening of the subject's power to control his thoughts and actions. His dominant or outstanding characteristics—gentleness, fear, boldness—are greatly increased. Thus the genial or kindly man grows more fond of his fellows, the quarrelsome one wants to fight even more, the timid one becomes more fearful, and the criminal becomes more bold.

TERRITORIAL ARMY TO BE REORGANIZED

These do not exist now even in the regular army. Horse regiments will be retained as reserve cavalry now that most regular cavalry units have been mechanized.

Infantry brigades will be built on the regular army pattern of three battalions instead of four. As a result, there will be nine complete divisions on the regular army model, three motorized divisions and a mobile division.

At the same time a War Office announcement said the three new territorial motorized divisions would parallel proposed six-battalion divisions of the regular army. Each of these will have a motorcycle battalion attached.

Miss Tait Is Bride of Mr. Allan MacPherson

Ceremony Takes Place in Lovely Setting at Home Of Bride's Parents—Couple Will Make Their Home in Vancouver

The marriage took place yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock, at the home of the bride's parents, Union Avenue, of Winnifred Mayne, elder daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. Tait, and Mr. Allen Mitchell MacPherson, younger son of Mr. F. M. and Mrs. MacPherson, Newport Avenue.

During the service, which was conducted by Rev. A. D. Reid, D.D., of Centennial United Church, an old family friend, the bride and groom stood in front of the fireplace, which was banked with Michaelmas daisies, yellow rudbeckia, and autumn-tinged foliage, together with tall baskets of white chrysanthemums. On the mantelpiece stood tall white lighted tapers in graduated candelabra.

BRIDAL PARTY

Owing to the illness of her father, the bride was given in marriage by her uncle, Mr. J. Mayne, Vancouver, and looked lovely in a frock of white net over tulle, with a full skirt and long pointed sleeves. The neck, waist and wrists were edged with narrow velvet ribbon. A waist-length veil was caught to the top of her head with a cluster of white flowers and fell softly over her face, and she wore a string of pearls, the gift of the bridegroom, and carried a round bouquet of white snapdragons.

The bridesmaid were her sister, Miss Lillian Tait, and Miss Violet Forbes, Vancouver, who were dressed alike in pictureque frocks of sea-foam tulle with shirred waists and short sleeves, and tied at the back with large tulle bows. Sea-foam and rose-colored flowers adorned the front of their bodices. They wore tiny rose-colored doll hats trimmed with a single plum in a deeper shade, and held shirred muffs of pink tulle, covered with sprays of roses. Mr. Douglas ("Sandy") Hunter was best man. Mr. George Gibson played the wedding marches, and as the register was being signed, Miss Jean Morrison sang "Through the Years."

WEDDING RECEPTION

A reception was held after the ceremony, and refreshments were served from a table covered with a lace cloth, centered with a wedding cake surmounted with two white lilies tied with a bow of tulle. The base was wreathed in smilax, and flanked with vases of lilies and two ivory tapers in silver holders.

The guests were welcomed by Mrs. Tait in a frock of sapphire blue velvet, and a large black hat banded with fuchsia and sapphire velvet, who wore a corsage bouquet of pink roses, assisted by Mrs. MacPherson, who was smartly dressed in black, with a corsage bouquet of gardenias. Dr. Reid proposed the toast to the bride.

Mr. and Mrs. MacPherson left by the afternoon boat for Seattle, from where they will motor to Portland before returning to Vancouver to make their home. The bride went away in a navy blue wool dress-maker suit adorned with a corsage bouquet of orchids, and navy accessories.

Guests at the wedding included Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Dudley, Miss Wynn Smith, Mr. William Smith, Mr. and Mrs. J. Mayne and their daughter, Patay, all from Vancouver.

Fatt, "Dulce Domum," Truist Street, at a quiet ceremony performed yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock by Rev. Tall baskets of white chrysanthemums and smaller baskets filled with pink chrysanthemums were placed effectively in front of a background of brickwork.

THE BRIDE

Her shoes were of the same shade and she carried a fragrant bouquet of Joannia Hill roses.

The beauty of her gown was enhanced by the frock worn by the bride's only attendant, Mrs. Harry West, Winnipeg, who, as matron of honor, was charming in a ruffled beige lace frock, the skirt hanging in graceful folds to the floor. If she wore a stand-up collar, fashioned with a peplum and long sleeves. Her girdle was a long slash of tropical velvet, and her hat was a braided halo of tropical velvet and the shoes were the same shade. She carried an arm bouquet of gerbera in delicate shades. Mr. Louis Fatt, Jordan River, brother of the groom, was best man.

Mrs. Kelpin was assisted by the groom's mother, Mrs. Fatt, in receiving the guests at the reception, which was held immediately after the ceremony at the home of the bride's parents. Mrs. Kelpin was dressed in a shimmering blue sheer floor-length frock with full puffed skirt and tucked bodice, the folds of which made a soft "V" neckline. The sleeves were three-quarter length and her hat and shoes were in wine shade, the hat being trimmed with feathers. Eleanor blue was the shade of the lovely crepe frock worn by Mrs. Fatt, with which she wore a bolero with long sleeves.

New Milk Process to Banish Cream Skimmer TITHACA, N.Y., Oct. 10 (AP)—Commercial success in making milk from which the cream cannot be skimmed was announced Friday by Cornell University.

Neither the milkman, nor "pa" pouring off the top of the morning bottle first, can get the cream. It can't be done, the announcement says, even if the bottle stands for a year.

The feat is accomplished by a process of getting that fat, which forms cream, so completely distributed through the milk it is never again able to unite.

LONG-TIME STUDY The process has been under development seven years. As now completed the cream-spreading machine is a steel chamber with pistons to drive fresh milk through small openings. Pressures of 2,000 to 2,500 pounds force the fluid through slots thin as paper. The result is to crush the fat globules so they distribute completely through the milk and are never able to get together again.

Commercial applications have been held back because of the ease of adulteration. Butter, powdered milk and other substances could be tossed in and never be detectable afterward. Now Professors H. J. Bruckner and P. F. Sharp, of the College of Agriculture, have perfected chemical tests for any adulteration.

PREFER PRODUCT The announcement says commercial tests of the fate of skimless milk have been completed in several Canadian cities and in Buffalo, Rochester and Utica. Housewives at first objected to being unable to get their coffee cream from the top of the bottle. But they and the other objectors, the announcement states, are coming around to prefer the new product.

There were objectors from milk companies which had built reputations on the depth of cream in the top of the bottle. Golden colored milks treated in this way lose a little of their color.

Yanks Rout Cubs In Four Straight To Create Record

New York Becomes First Club in Baseball History To Win Three World Series in Succession—Take Sunday's Game Behind Ruffing's Pitching, 8-3—Crosetti Stars Again

By PAUL MICKELSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

YANKEE STADIUM, Oct. 10 (AP)—The greatest victory march in all baseball history ended in burlesque on Sunday, as Joe McCarthy's pitiless New York Yankees stomped the pitiful Chicago Cubs, 8-3, for the fourth straight victory that made them the first baseball club to win three successive world championship conquests before 59,847 cash customers.

Whose sympathies for the beaten and outclassed Cubs were so touched that they chanted in vain for a rally from the club that only a week ago was the hottest in baseball, the Yankees simply toyed with their once highly touted enemy and ended their record-breaking baseball Odyssey over the rather prostrate forms of six Cub pitchers, including Bill Lee and Dizzy Dean.

The triumph, turned into a comedy of errors, hooks and whips in the eighth just as the Cubs came within a run from tying the score, completed the sweep to three world crowns began at the Polo Grounds two years ago. It ended with the Yanks winners of twelve out of thirteen world series games played, only Carl Hubbell and his New York Giants interrupting the parade to win two games in 1936 and another last year. Not since inter-league classics began in 1903 has a team ever before won three straight world championships.

GAINS REVENGE

The result was more than that. It gave McCarthy complete revenge on his old Chicago Cub bosses who fired him as manager quite unceremoniously after six years of service in 1930. The grand slam was the second for the Yanks under McCarthy. In 1932, his club swept the Cubs four in a row. Not in the history of any sport has a man had such revenge, and as he sat chewing gum in the dressing-room after the win, he said, "I don't think I'll be happy the world know he was a lousy man."

Sunday's finishing Yankee riot was a ball game as long as the Yankees half of the eighth. The Yankees, cashing in on a bad total by Bill Jurges for an ultimate total of three runs in the second off Lee, and picking up another on a home-run smash by Tommy Henrich in the sixth, saw a 4-1 lead threatened in the Cub eighth. Phil Cavarretta doubled for the sixth hit off the steady big Yankee strong arm man, Charlie Ruffing, and Ken O'Dea homered him in for the third Cub run with a towering clout into the right-field seats. But the hope of the multitude—even rabid Yankee fans were cheering for a Cub victory—glimmered and then fell with a sickening thud as the Cub pitcher collapsed under the terrific strain.

This is what happened to turn the tight, dramatic game into burlesque: Vance Page, freshman hurler for the Cubs, had been doing some fine relief duty, succeeding Charlie Root who had rescued Lee, and there was one Yankee down. Joe DiMaggio opened with a single to left and Gehrig drove him to third with a terrific one-base smash to right. Out went Page and in came big Larry French, the southpaw, to pitch to a left-handed hitter, Bill Dickey. He did his job, forcing Dickey to pop to Jurges and then went out in favor of Tex Carleton. And the Yanks made poor Tex the clown for their final horseshow with the horsehide.

WIDENS LEAD

Tex's first pitch to Myril Hoag, substituting for the injured George Selkirk, came close to being a wild pitch. His second was a wild one, and DiMaggio rushed over for a run. Hoag then doubled to left, scoring Gehrig, and almost immediately took third on Carleton's second wild pitch. Gordon was given an intentional pass and made it all the funnier by stealing second without a play from Catcher O'Dea. Ruffing walked after fouling off several pitches and the bases were loaded, providing just the setting the Yankees desired, for in came Dean to relieve Carleton.

Frank Crosetti hit Diz's second pitch for a high fly that fell in short left field for a double, scoring Hoag and Gordon. The comedy ended as Red Rolfe, completing the swing in the Yankee bat-around for the comical inning, lined out to First Baseman Rip Collins.

Whatever hearts the Cubs, beaten in every department of baseball, even in luck, all week, had left went there. They ticked Ruffing for their eighth hit in their last gasp try in the fifth, but big Red eased the next three batters down and it was all over, Herman providing the final out of one of the most pitiful world series in history by hitting a bouncer to Ruffing, who tossed to Gehrig.

Ruffing, winner of two of the four Yankee victories, was as much a master as the score shows. Only twice did the Cubs nick him for two hits in one inning, and the homer that Ken O'Dea got came when he was a bit asleep, lulled by the secure lead of 4-1 he had. Ruffing walked only two men, in a row in the fourth inning, and struck out six. He also batted in the first Yank run in the second.

The Cubs, tossing away scoring chances like spendthrifts, presented the champs with their first three-run game in the second inning. Lee was going strong and had two outs and nobody on when Hoag hit an easy roller. Jurges made the stop easily and, though he had all the time in the world, he made a fast relay that bit into the dust out of Collins' reach. Gordon followed the error with a single to left and Ruffing whaled one to right, scoring Hoag. Crosetti, teamed with Gordon as the world series hero, then slashed a terrific liner to left that outfielder Frank Demaree had his hands on but couldn't hold. The blow scored Ruffing and Gordon.

After the Cubs had failed to seize an opportunity in the third when Stanley Hack and Herman had singled, Manager Gabby Hartnett, riding the bench in this last game because of his poor hitting, jerked Lee for Pitcher Hitter Augie Galan, who left two base runners stranded in the fourth by striking out. The Cubs scored their first run in that inning. Demaree and O'Dea walking and Demaree scoring as Gordon mowed up Crosetti's throw trying for a force-out at second on Jurges' grounder.

Except for Cavarretta's single in the fifth and a double by Jurges that bounced into the right-field seats in the seventh, Ruffing never was in danger until the Cub eighth. Cavarretta opened with a double to right, was stuck on base as Joe Marty fanned, and Demaree rolled out but came walking home as O'Dea drove his homer into the right-field lower section.

Toronto Varsity Upsets Balmy Beach Squad

Toronto Varsity upset the dope by beating Balmy Beach, 10-6, to retain the Reg DeGruchy Memorial Trophy. The arrow points to Ted Jarvis, who can be seen going high into the air to gather in the Varsity touchdown in the second quarter. During the game, Doug Turner, husky Varsity star, was carried to the dressing-room by sympathetic mates, after twisting his knee stopping one of the Balmies' many charges through the middle.

Stuffy in Here, Isn't It?

LIFE'S LIKE THAT - By Fred Neher

"Hi! Me Again! If I'm Goin' Home Tonight, I Gotta Get Used to It!"

Jane Dixon Says:

PROBLEMS IN BRIEF: A YOUNG WOMAN IS SO SELFISH THAT SHE TRIED TO PERSUADE THE MAN SHE LOVES NOT TO RETURN TO COLLEGE BECAUSE SHE WAS AFRAID SHE WOULD LOSE HIM—A GIRL IS FILLED WITH FEAR THAT HER BROTHER, WHO ALWAYS HAS BEEN A PROBLEM, MIGHT TAKE OVER THEIR WIDOWED MOTHER'S FINANCIAL AFFAIRS

Do not anticipate trouble. It may blow over or go around the other way and miss you completely. If it does strike, you will need strength to meet it. Therefore, save your strength for a possible need.

Forlorn—Your young man has gone back to the university and you are lonely and despondent because you are afraid he will find someone else he will care for more than he cares for you. He never has shown any disposition toward "fickleness," but you can't help feeling as you do since he is handsome and popular and full of life. You tried to get him to give up college and take a job at home so you could be together, but his parents were horrified by the idea, and he didn't seem to like it any too well himself. What do I think your chances are of holding him?

I should say your chances are very slim if you continue being as selfish and as short-sighted as you were in the matter of trying to keep him from completing his education. A real woman's work is to encourage and inspire the man she loves, not strangle his ambitions and slow his progress. Let the young man feel you have faith in him and in his future.

Younger Sister—Your brother always has been a problem in your family, a "spoiled kid" grown into a "know-it-all bossy man." What should you do if he tries to take over the financial affairs of your mother, now that she is a widow? He thinks he is a big business man, but he hasn't proved it in handling his own affairs. How can you stop him before he starts something?

You can't very well stop something that has not started. What you had better take up is watchful waiting. There is a chance that your concern is groundless. When your brother gives evidence to the contrary, marshal the strength you have built up by self-control and calm observation, and use that strength to safeguard your mother.

OPEN CHURCH AT LAKE COWICHAN

LAKE COWICHAN, Oct. 10.—Rev. A. Reid, D.D., of Centennial Church, Victoria, officiated at the opening service of the Lake Cowichan Church, which will be used for all denominations. The Ladies' Aid, beautifully decorated the church, and the Lake Cowichan Girls' Club were in the choir. Mrs. V. Galbraith (Yobson) was at the organ and Mrs. Sam Alexander sang "This is My Task" and Mr. Seed (Yobson) sang "Open the Gates of the Temple."

Rev. G. H. Findlay, of the United Church, conveyed thanks to all who had helped with labor and donations.

She—"You looked terribly stupid when you asked father for my hand."

He—"Yes, on that occasion my face was an indicator of my mind."

BERT SUTTON BIG WINNER

Takes Three Events at Langford Speedways During Heavy Rain

Piloting his silver number nine special over the rain-slick surface of the Langford Speedways in the midst of a steady downpour of rain, Victoria's Bert Sutton wrote a watery finale to this season's auto racing yesterday when he held off a strong field of contenders to win the twenty-lap main event.

Pitted against Buddy Green, Jack Spaulding from Seattle and Tarzan Carson from Duncan, the local lad made the most of the tricky track and swept under the checkered flag with a clean lead on Green, his nearest opponent. Majority of other drivers found the going too rough to make serious bids for the lead, despite the precaution of running on reduced tire pressure in order to get a better grip on the track.

WINS TWO MORE

Clocking up the fastest time in the preliminary time trials, Sutton won the helmet dash handily from Digger Caldwell and Jack Spaulding when Caldwell spun out on the slippery south corner of the oval. In the ten-lap first heat, Sutton repeated his earlier triumph when he led Caldwell, Spaulding and Tarzan Carson home by a wide margin.

Caldwell romped home the winner of the second-heat race when Jerry Vanfreight from Nanaimo slid broadside into "Hard Luck" Carson on a turn and spoiled his only serious bid of the day. Carson, after pulling back onto the track, failed to regain his lead position and "Digger" swept over the finish line well ahead of Vanfreight.

His driving skill unhampered by the fact that he was badly injured in one of the first races of the year, Buddy Green swept home to a second win since his discharge from the hospital when he out-piloted Laird, Carson and Vanfreight to cop the third heat.

Gehrig Argues; Hack Is Put Out

Two action pictures of the first game of the world series between the New York Yankees, the winner in four straight, and the Chicago Cubs of the National Baseball League. These snaps were taken in the first tussle, which the Yanks won, 3-1, at the home of the Cubs, Wrigley Field. In the top photo Lou Gehrig, veteran first baseman of the Yankees, is swinging with Umpire Moran after the arbiter ruled a strike on Lou. Gehrig argued that it was a ball, but the umpire was right once again. Coach Artie Fletcher is seen holding the first sacker away from the umpire. In the lower photo, Stanley Hack, of the Cubs, is caught at the plate in the third inning. Dickey is making the put out on a close play.

Anscomb Cup Game Ends in Deadlock; Match Hard Fought

Alex Ross' Goal Late in Final Half Gives Wednesday League Footballers 2-2 Draw—Small Crowd Witnesses Exciting Game

Racing in to pick up the rebound of Raeside's long, hard drive, which had hit the upright, Alex Ross scored the goal late in the final period which gave the Wednesday League a two-all draw against a representative team from the Saturday League, yesterday afternoon, at the Royal Athletic Park. In the opening match of the Anscomb Cup football series. A heavy down-pour kept the crowd down to about 200, but the fans who stayed away from the enclosure missed a good game from beginning to end.

Both clubs turned in smart exhibitions. Never once did they let up, engineering clever combination plays and shooting at practically every opportunity on an extremely slippery field. Chances were missed by both sides, but some were excusable, and others because the players were a little over-anxious. The Saturday boys opened the game with ten players, and were short-handed for about fifteen minutes, when Gordie Bell, clever outside right, came on.

HAS ADVANTAGE
Up to the time that Bell came on, the mid-week eleven had the edge and continually forced their opponents back in their own zone. However, no scoring place and when Bell arrived the Saturday League forced the play, and the outside right was doing a lot of engineering with clever passing and tricky work. Ross narrowly missed in the early minutes, skying over the bar, and then Restall came out of his goal to clear a cross from the right lane. Pressing hard, the Wednesday boys had the Saturday squad on the run. Restall saved a hard drive from Raeside, Preston's header of Speller's corner went past the post, and then Bell came into the game.

Bell went through from Barnes and slipped the ball to Richard, who missed a sure goal after taking the winger's pass. George Barnes skied over after O'Connell had blocked a hard one from Bell. At the other end, Raeside missed again with a hard shot from well out. The Saturday eleven rushed away and George Barnes missed right in front of the net after Bell had made the opening. Playing the better soccer now, the Saturday team were storming around the goal, but could not score. Preston missed the post after beating Barnes, but at the forty-minute mark, the veteran centre scored from Barnes' and Speller. It was still 1-0 at the half.

The Wednesday League enjoyed their lead momentarily, however, for half Nip Sage scored the equalizer when he rushed in and converted after Sadler had temporarily saved from Richard. Henry Barber nearly broke the

Slocomb Winner Of Colonist Cup at Macaulay Point

A. E. SLOCOMB won The Colonist Cup competition at the Macaulay Point Golf Club on Sunday by turning in a thirty-six-hole net card of 123, two strokes in front of Eric Wright. The new cup-holder had a first-day card of 60-17-63, and on Sunday he posted a 71-17-60, while Wright, playing with a five handicap, had rounds of 67-5-62 and 68-5-63. Three others tied for the next three positions with net 130's. They were: W. Allen, A. E. Morgan and Alex Simpson. J. F. Dawson won the low net card for the first day, and G. S. Mitchell was tops on the second. In the par competition, played yesterday, W. Allen, W. Wills and A. E. Morgan tied, all being three up.

deadlock, but a fast-rising drive was pushed against the post, and nobody could get to the rebound. Again Barber was dangerous, but Sadler deflected the shot away. Preston, Geddes and Ross drove over the bar, and then Ed DeCosta came on at right wing for Geddes.

TWO MORE GOALS
Harold Richard put the Saturday League in front as play continued taking his opening from Bell, but before the finish Ross got Raeside's rebound off the post and tied it up. Near the finish, Bell hit the post with a rising shot.

Cull refereed, and teams follow: Saturday League—T. Restall, Wilkinson, Cooper, Thomson, Barnes, C. Restall, Bell, Sage, Richard, G. Barnes and Barber. Wednesday League—Sadler, O'Connell, Kennedy, Sande, L. Kennedy, Raeside, Geddes, Ross, Preston, Barnswell, Speller and E. DeCosta.

HOLY LAND OFFICIAL ESCAPES INJURY IN ATTACK WITH BOMBS

Four Explosive Missiles Hurlled From Walls in Attempt to Assassinate British District Commissioner of Jerusalem—Sharp Clashes Between Arabs and British Troops

JERUSALEM, Oct. 11 (AP).—An attempt to assassinate the British District Commissioner of Jerusalem and a fight against Arab outposts marked the bitter dispute today among Arabs, Jews and British authorities attempting to restore order. Four bombs were hurled at Edward Keith-Roach's auto from the old city walls in front of the Rockefeller Museum. Mr. Keith-Roach, in office since 1931, escaped injury, as did occupants of two military escort cars and a police car which accompanied him.

Reinforcements of British troops were called out in Northern Palestine to assist police in battling an Arab band near Mount Carmel, where in Biblical times Elijah offered sacrifices.

ALL-NIGHT BATTLE

Throughout the night British forces engaged the band, which was strengthened by addition of many Arab villagers. Air force planes were sent up to illuminate the scene with parachute flares.

Troops dispersed the Arabs at dawn, taking five prisoners and confiscating rifles and ammunition.

Almost immediately after their arrival from India yesterday, the Royal Scots' Greys, one of the last remaining horse regiments in the British army, were called to help in the fight near Mount Carmel.

PART OF REINFORCEMENTS

The Greys formed part of 2,400 troops arriving on three troopships as the advance guard of reinforcements sent to try restoring peace to the troubled Holy Land.

At Lydda, Palestine's main railway junction, twenty-one Arab homes were destroyed by British troops because of recent attacks on military police.

A death toll of five was reported after twenty separate incidents of killing, sabotage, arson, robbery and sniping in the last twenty-four hours.

NANAIMO NO. 1 MINE CLOSING

Equipment Being Dismantled After Continuous Operation Since 1883

NANAIMO, Oct. 11 (AP).—Nanaimo's No. 1 Mine is being dismantled this week after having been operated continuously since 1883. On Monday the miners were ordered to bring their tools out, and during the rest of the week machinery, cars, rails, etc., will be removed. Mining has been carried on for more than eight miles under the surface of the harbor and gulf, but now the long haulage has made mining unprofitable, hence the shutdown. At one time an average of 150 horses and mules were worked underground, housed in comfortable stables there, but never seeing the light of day. At the date of closure only twenty-two animals were in the mine, and of these nineteen are being placed in other mines owned by the company, and three are too old for further work.

GETTING OTHER WORK
Most of the miners working in No. 1 on date of closure will be given work in other mines of the company in nearby districts. It is understood.

In 1887, in an explosion, ninety-six white men and fifty-two Chinese were killed. This was the major disaster in the mine's history. The only other group disaster was in 1918, when sixteen men fell to their death as the cage cable broke at the head of Protection shaft, the cage dropping 600 feet and killing every man instantly.

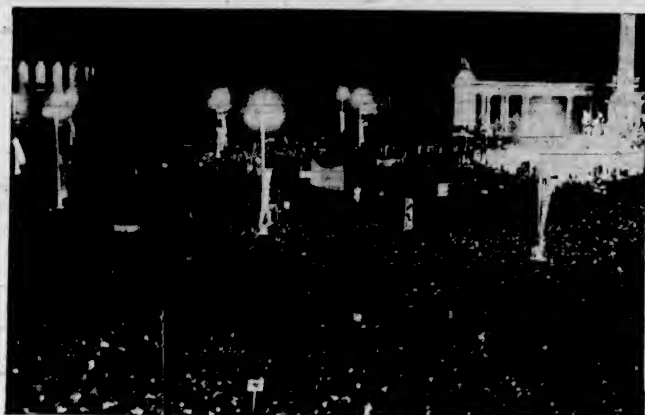

ANGLO-BULGARIAN AGREEMENT COMING

LONDON, Oct. 11 (CP-Havas).—Balkan diplomatic circles reported here today that negotiations for an Anglo-Bulgarian commercial agreement soon will be concluded successfully. It was predicted Great Britain would grant Bulgaria a credit of £2,000,000 ($10,000,000) instead of £600,000 as previously predicted. With these funds Bulgaria is expected to buy war materials and railroad material to permit development of mineral deposits now not easily accessible.

Cut Rail Communication With Hankow and Open New Invasion of Canton

Japanese Announce Landing Of Forces Somewhere In South China

CHINESE GUERRILLAS WORRYING INVADERS

SHANGHAI, Oct. 12 (AP).—The Japanese forces in China were reported to have cut the Northern railway communication with Hankow today, and simultaneously to have landed troops in South China in preparation for a drive on Canton, China's last big coastal city.

The Japanese army and navy, in a joint communique, officially announced their combined forces made a landing "somewhere in South China early this morning." No details were given, but usually reliable sources in Hongkong stated the landing was made at Hachung, in Bias Bay, a few miles north of Hongkong and about twenty miles east of the Kowloon-Canton railway.

Almost simultaneously Domei (Japanese news agency) announced from the front that Japanese troops long pushing westward north of the Yangtze finally had captured Sinyang, Peiping-Hankow railway town, 100 miles north of Hankow and a key objective of the Central China drive.

Significance of the two reported manoeuvres lay in the fact that a Continued on Page 6, Column 6

Premier to Holiday in West Indies

NEW YORK, Oct. 11 (AP).—Prime Minister Mackenzie King and Dr. O. D. Skelton, Canadian Under-Secretary of State for External Affairs, called from New York tonight for a fortnight's holiday in Bermuda and the West Indies.

"Our plans still are indefinite," the Prime Minister said. "I think we will stop a few days on Somerset Island."

"Fine breakers there," he said, explaining his choice of the small island near the northwestern tip of the Bermuda. "Then I believe we will go on to Jamaica."

Border Towns Are in Symbolic Occupation By Hungarian Troops

More Czechoslovakian Territory Changes Hands—Recovery of Thousands of Square Miles Expected by Hungarians—Stay Negotiations

PRAGUE, Oct. 11 (AP).—Hungarian troops today completed symbolic occupation of two former Czechoslovak border towns—Ipolyzag and Satoralja Ujhely—pending complete settlement of Hungary's territorial and minority demands in a conference at Komarom.

The Prague Government wrestled with problems arising from German occupation of Sudetenland, particularly the presence in Czechoslovakia of 10,000 refugees from Sudetenland.

COMMITTEE INVESTIGATES
The Bohemian Provincial Government appointed a committee of ten former residents of Sudetenland to investigate registration lists and determine which refugees could be sent back to their homes without personal danger.

FOURTEEN PERSONS LOSE LIVES IN FLAMING ONTARIO FORESTS

Three Others Perish When Widespread Fire Sweeps From Northwestern Part of Province Across Border Into Minnesota—Wind Adds to Fury of Destructive Flames

All Residents Removed From Large Area Hard Hit by Blaze

FORT FRANCES, Ont., Oct. 11 (AP).—Menacing flow of flaming timberlands dulled somewhat tonight in fire-stricken Northwestern Ontario and Forestry Branch officials and Provincial Police, who counted fourteen dead, believed they had evacuated all other families from the blazing sector.

Two women and ten children of the families of three La belle brothers, homesteaders in Dance Township, fifty miles northwest of Fort Frances, were among the fourteen dead. The toll along the fire-swept international boundary was raised to seventeen by the death of three men on the northern rim of Minnesota.

Flames slumbering in scattered districts since early September fanned to terrifying fury yesterday before a south wind. Heavily-timbered areas of Dance Township, which on Monday stood against the skyline, were smouldering acres of charred stumps today. But Chief Fire Ranger William Darby said tonight "the situation looks somewhat better."

AREA IS EVACUATED
By nightfall all families were believed removed from threatened areas across the fifty-mile front. Though the fires blazed furiously still, no further loss of life was believed threatened. Complete evacuation of all areas in the danger zone has been enforced. Families are being rushed to safety upon the least provocation.

Tents were set up in fire-free sections as temporary shelter. Food is being rushed to these tent settlements from Fort Frances. Truckloads of refugees are arriving here hourly, and a fund to assist the needy has been opened. Relief Officer Michael Morrison, of Fort Arthur, is in charge.

Goes to Trial for Hoax Victimizing Air Defence Corps

LONDON, Oct. 11 (AP).—A telephone operator, William Wood, twenty-six, was committed for trial at Leeds today on a charge of public mischief—specifically telephoning a secret code warning of an "air raid" in the recent international crisis. Thousands of defence workers piled out of bed around midnight that night at sixty-nine air raid precautions centres, police stations and fire departments of West Yorkshire, prepared for action. The summons was a hoax.

AIR LINK IS CONSIDERED

R. W. Mayhew, M.P., States Trans-Canada Lines Ready To Include Victoria

Victoria can be placed permanently on the Trans-Canada Airway, with substantial assistance towards airport facilities and temporary use of the military airbase at Patricia Bay, if the community initiates a move to provide an adequate airfield, R. W. Mayhew, M.P., said yesterday, after returning at the weekend from Ottawa.

The Victoria member's statement was as follows: "The Trans-Canada Air Lines is prepared to give Victoria a direct service, bringing planes into Victoria, as soon as there is a civil airfield ready for use."

"The Dominion Government is prepared to give substantial financial assistance in the preparing of such a field, but the initiative will have to be taken by the citizens of Greater Victoria."

MAY USE FIELD

"Hon. C. D. Howe, Minister of Transport, said the Trans-Canada Air Lines would be permitted to use the Patricia Bay field temporarily if the Department of National Defence would allow it."

"Hon. Ian Mackenzie, Defence Minister, said the airways would be allowed to use Patricia Bay temporarily if the city decided to go ahead with a permanent airport scheme, but there was no use doing this if the city did not go ahead."

Clearance of the deep-water harbor was already in action, and some progress had been made in connection with the long-proposed Federal building here, Mr. Mayhew intimated, in conclusion.

RESCUED AFTER TRYING ORDEAL

Girl Clings Nine Hours to Dead Tree Overhanging Precipice

FORT WILLIAM, Ont., Oct. 11 (AP).—Story of a sixteen-year-old girl who clung to a dead tree overhanging a 400-foot precipice for nine hours and her rescue yesterday by Constable A. Francis, of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, was told here today.

Doris Cockburn, and Rita Page, both sixteen years old, narrowly escaped death during the week-end when they lost their way while descending from the 900-foot summit of Mount McKay, three miles from Fort William.

WENT FOR HELP

Miss Cockburn, trying to reach a ledge, found herself unable to get either up or down. Her companion told her to hang on to a dead tree while she went for assistance.

Miss Page left her companion at 8 o'clock on Sunday night and after a harrowing two hours in descending the mountain she reached an Indian Mission at midnight and brought a rescue party.

By the aid of flashlights, police from the foot of the mountain were able to locate the position of the girl and directed the workers up the mountainside. Constable Francis was lowered 150 feet by a rope from the first ledge of the mountain. Four constables held him as he pulled Miss Cockburn to safety.

PENSION SCHEMES BEING EXAMINED

Report of United States Economic Experts Warns There Are No Short Cuts to Utopia

WASHINGTON, Oct. 11 (AP).—Social Security Board officials had under consideration today a report prepared by their economic experts describing variety of pension plans being proposed over the United States as an "epidemic of crackpot pension schemes."

While board members refrained from commenting publicly on such plans as California's "430-every-Thursday" proposal, the opinion set forth by the experts was the plan "must be taken seriously only because their surface plausibility has succeeded in deluding so many millions of the aged, their friends and relatives."

"This will continue," the report said, "until the men and women of America realize that there are actually no 'short cuts to Utopia.'"

Man Shot Dead In Mistake for Moose in Bush

SHOT in mistake for a Smoosie, Martin Moe, of Decker Lake, succumbed to his injuries at Smithers on Sunday, according to wireless reports to the Provincial Police yesterday. Mrs. Hilda Moe, also of Decker Lake, was being questioned by the police in connection with the fatality, details of which were not received here. Both parties had been hunting in the bush.

buildings, schools and personal effects have disappeared in the holocaust. Estimates say at least thirty homes were evacuated in Dance Township.

One of the most serious fires burning now is near Off Lake, forty miles north of Fort Frances. Fighters are concentrating their efforts there to keep the blaze from spreading to Clearwater Lake, in the heart of the tourist and hunting country.

Constable David, of the Provincial Police, who found bodies of the Labelle family victims scattered along the road near their home, said fire rangers visited the Labelle home several days ago when the flames were five miles away and urged the families to flee. Apparently they did not attempt to seek safety until yesterday—too late.

IN HOSPITAL
In addition to the fourteen dead in Ontario, ten are in hospital here with serious burns.

The dead in Ontario:
Mrs. Violeta Labelle, thirty-three, wife of William Labelle, and her five children, Abigail, two; Robert, four; Arthur, six; Violeta, eight; and Margaret, eleven.

Mrs. Sadie Labelle, twenty-seven, wife of Noah Labelle, and her four children, Florence, two months; Calvin, three years; Walter, five; and Charles, six.

Maxine Labelle, eleven, daughter of Frank Labelle.
Ben Puits, sixty, and an unidentified man.

DEATHS IN MINNESOTA
Three men lost their lives across the border in the Minnesota flames. They were Fred Service, sixty; Orville Williams, and Joe Gardin, sixty-five.

Doctors and nurses, summoned to Fort Frances, cared for Noah Labelle and two children; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Labelle and their two children; Robert Peterson, fifty-two; Nat Lavergne, forty-four, and an unidentified elderly man.

The Labelle brothers were fighting the flames when informed their families had been killed in the inferno, which reached its peak between 1 and 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon. They rushed to the spot where their cabin homes once stood and succeeding in getting Frank's children to safety, but Maxine was so badly burned she died at Fort Frances.

TWO TOWNS THREATENED
The rains checked advance of the fire on Rainy River, where residents today were unable to see the flames, which at one time advanced to within half a mile of the town. They also roared through the forest land to within a mile of Fort Frances yesterday.

Police officers and fire-fighters were rushed from Port Arthur, Dryden, Kenora and Sioux Lookout. Officers sped through blackened, charred districts, looking for persons unreported. One report said about thirty were yet to be located near Rainy River.

Doctors were kept busy treating burned hands and faces as residents struggled to save once beautiful farm homes. Communication with various points was cut off, with bridges burned, and telephone and telegraph lines cut by the searing heat.

The first sitting is expected to take place in Calgary on October 17.

Says Empire Policy Would Be Tested at Next Dominion Vote

F. S. Cunliffe, Conservative Candidate for Nanaimo Riding, Addresses Saanich Association Here—Says Election May Decide Canada's Future

CANADA'S position, as a self-governing dominion within the British Commonwealth of Nations, would be tested at the next Federal election, was the political prediction of F. S. Cunliffe, Conservative candidate for the Nanaimo Federal riding, in an address to members of the Saanich Conservative Association at their annual meeting in the Campbell Building last night.

Mr. Cunliffe declared the major issue in the Dominion voting would be whether the future of Canada would be with the British Empire or with the United States. He maintained that for the last three years every major problem of the Dominion had been considered from an American viewpoint. The question before the people of Canada, he said, was "do we stay with the British Empire or strike out on an isolationist policy and end up with making Canada a political appendage of the United States?"

BRITISH PROTECTION
The speaker criticized the policy of the present Prime Minister of Canada for inability of the Government to deal effectively with problems of general interest to the future of Canada and Canadians. The Prime Minister, he said, often had referred to collective security. "It seems to be always that someone else should furnish the security and we do the collecting. How can we hope to build up a national spirit on that assumption? We must be ready to do our bit and not always be on the receiving end." Mr. Cunliffe stated he was referring to protection of Canada by Great Britain.

CRISIS IN EUROPE
Speaking of the recent crisis in Europe, Mr. Cunliffe said he would refer briefly to "the part Canada did not play in those hectic days when, at the time of a great crisis, the British Government was carrying the load for the whole Empire. From all parts of the Commonwealth assurances went forward to Prime Minister Chamberlain, but we in Canada were placed in the humiliating position of being inarticulate without a word of encouragement. The only word sent to Great Britain was from the Prime Minister of Canada, who expressed interest in the conference between Chamberlain and Hitler. The action was in line with the inactivity of the Canadian Government in matters of importance affecting Imperial relations."

OFFICERS ELECTED
Prior to Mr. Cunliffe's brief address, the association elected its officers for the year, which resulted as follows: President, Percy Mickelburgh (re-elected); first vice-president, Russell Twining; second vice-president, Mrs. L. H. McQueen; third vice-president, T. H. Butters; secretary-treasurer, Mrs. C. E. Giles; auditors, A. R. Sherwood and P. T. Fatt. W. O. Wallace and John Patterson were elected members of the executive committee.

Presenting his report for the past twelve months, Mr. Mickelburgh referred to the importance of youth organization and the need for efforts to secure youth support of the policies of the Conservative party. The report of the secretary-treasurer was given by Mr. Patterson.

CALM PREVENTS SCHOONER RACE

triangular course. After confused starting signals, the two schooners drifted along, beam to beam, so close together a member of Blue-rose's crew reached out and patted Thebaud's main boom.

When the contest was called off, Blue-rose was leading Thebaud by about a mile. At 2:55 p.m. (11:55 p.m. P.S.T.), with only a minute remaining and about fifteen miles of the thirty-six-mile course unsailed, the race committee came alongside to notify Captain Pine the race was ended and to ask him if he would sail tomorrow.

SHARP CRITICISM
Captain Pine roundly criticized Captain Charles M. Lyons, of the committee, for permitting the contest to continue long after it was obvious the boats had no chance of finishing within the six-hour time limit.

Pine said if Captain Walters agreed he would refuse to race tomorrow because he wanted to give his crew a day's respite.

The presentation was made by Fire Chief E. G. Clayards, who wished Mr. Usher the best of luck in his new adventure. Deputy Chief J. SAANICH LIBERAL GROUPS MEET AND SELECT OFFICERS

The principal business was the election of officers, which resulted as follows: Honorary president, Mr. Whitaker; honorary vice-president, Mr. Chambers; president, H. Mayer; vice-president, T. Alexander; secretary, D. Tindler, and executive committee, Mr. Alexander, Mrs. H. Mayer and B. Mortimer.

PLAN DEBATE ON PENSIONS
Civic Employees Are Uneasy Over Turn in Superannuation Measure
Plans are being made by the City Hall Officials' Association and the Civic Employees' Federation of Greater Victoria for meetings to discuss the new Superannuation Bill. It is understood the bill will be presented to the Provincial Legislature this month.

Many employees recall the words of Hon. Dr. G. M. Weir, Provincial Secretary, when he said last August of the present Superannuation Act: "The Act must either be revised or dropped altogether."

A balance sheet of the special reserve fund in the municipal division of the Act showed a deficit of $129,000 as at March 31, 1937.

SALARY NO MEASURE
Length of service, rather than salary, will be the basis of computing pensions under the new Act. A municipality will be required to provide a pension on the life plan of $360 per annum for twenty years' service, with an additional amount for service longer than that period.

Employees will be required to contribute not less than four per cent of their salaries, and may pay up to eight per cent depending upon their ages on entering the new plan. Provision will be made for an increased annuity on retirement by the payment of ten per cent.

City employees who are already in receipt of pensions are anxiously awaiting further details of the new plan. It is expected that some will receive more than their present allowances, and some less. Reports indicate one section of the plan contemplates refusal of any pension for less than twenty years' service, except for physical disability.

Money that Stays at Home ... and Builds!

Last year the Oil Companies of British Columbia paid these taxes:

Sales Tax	$1,083,880
Provincial, Corporate, Municipal and School Taxes	179,120
*$1,263,000

* This figure does not include the 7c Provincial Government Road Tax on gasoline or the 5c per gallon tax on fuel oil.

And last year the Oil Companies spent in British Columbia:

Direct Payrolls	$2,487,762
Supplies Purchased	2,244,000
Freight Within the Province	2,128,934
$6,860,696

Or a combined total of $8,123,696.

Figures ordinarily make dull reading. But we ask you to consider for a moment what this eight million dollars means.

It is half the annual output of our fisheries industry in British Columbia. It exceeds in value our annual production of copper; it is three millions more than our yield of silver. It is nearly double the value of our Okanagan apple crop.

A large share of this eight million dollars goes to support the machinery of government, but more than $6,800,000, you will observe, flows into the commercial life stream of the province, creating employment, paying good wages, buying supplies of all kinds, providing work for railway and transport men—in fact, stimulating business everywhere and making better times.

The petroleum industry is vital—creative—in tune with the times. It must have a fair reward for its accomplishments if it is not to be hampered or restricted in its service.

HARBOR IMPROVEMENTS

Apart from certain products of the soil, Victoria, being on an island, depends upon water transportation for pretty much all its necessities. Vital to its existence and growth is the free movement of ships to and from its docks. The Victorian cannot leave his island home for even the briefest of periods without going aboard a smart ferry vessel; the stranger cannot visit the city except by the same medium; a world traveler cannot land at an outer basin dock except along the gangway of one or other of the palatial liners serving deep sea routes.

Water-borne traffic, both passenger and freight, has been responsible for Victoria's growth since it was first chosen as a trading post by officers of the Hudson's Bay Company early in the last century. It could not have survived in the past without an open door to the seaways, and it can only prosper in the future by keeping the approaches to its outer doorway free of hazards.

It has been a good many years since any attention has been paid by the Federal authorities to keeping the passage to Victoria's outer and inner doors clear of navigation hazards. If Nature was stationary and a constant adjustment of the earth's crust not going on continually, there would not be any need of calling Ottawa's attention to the omission. Every student of natural forces is aware of the action going on under the water, where tides, waves and freshets carry away or deposit soil, sand and gravel, altering and varying the depths of harbors and their estuaries. In some places this is more noticeable than others; but Victoria's harbor is no exception, and soundings show there is a difference between depths registered fifty years ago and some obtained recently. Shipping men know that where old Admiralty charts show a certain number of feet, actual soundings today do not agree with the figures set down when the Royal Navy hydrographers made the survey.

Loaded ships have grounded, not once but a number of times, where there is supposed to be sufficient water to float them. Mariners have hoped the dangers would be remedied, and were relieved to hear that something was going to be done to that end a short time ago; while Victorians will recall that Ottawa was said to have made arrangements to carry out the recommendations of steamship officials, shipmasters and pilots having occasion to use our Outer Harbor. This is an area which shipmasters and pilots dread under certain conditions. It can be improved, to a partial degree of safety anyway, if necessary work is carried out. The inner approaches to Victoria's docks also need attention, and the fact that the work was commenced shortly after the announcement was made is commendable enough; but the work which is of far more importance to Victoria as a shipping port has not been started yet, and at the present moment seems as far away as it was when the improvements were first advocated by Captain T. V. Hill, of the liner Aorangi, and endorsed by other skippers and pilots calling here regularly.

Time may be the essence of the agreement in connection with the dredging and removal of certain hazards in Victoria's Outer Harbor. In the meantime, if the work is not brought to a speedy completion, shipping will continue to be hampered, masters and pilots worried, and travelers inconvenienced when weather conditions prevent liners from docking on schedule at the Outer Docks.

IF WAR HAD COME

If war had developed over the Sudeten crisis, it would have possessed features and strategy unlike those of any previous hostilities, or sufficiently unlike to raise doubts about the character of its outcome. If it had been a European and world struggle on the scale of the Great War, the armies of the nations would have been mobilized, but, says Professor Charles Sorela in a letter to The Scotsman, no battles could be fought, for the simple and strange reason that there would be no battlefields. Neither France nor Great Britain could have reached the main theatres of war, namely, Germany and Bohemia.

Professor Sorela says that the formidable Maginot line faces the equally formidable Siegfried line. The forces of one could not break through the other except by a slow, long and painful operation, and perhaps not even then. In the last war, Germany was on the offensive. Had she gone to war a few weeks ago she would have been largely on the defensive. She would have outflanked the Czechs army by superior force and occupied the country, and soldiers from France or Great Britain or Russia could not have gone to the aid of Czechoslovakia. The doom of that little State would have been sealed, and probably the campaign there would have lasted no longer than the Bohemian campaign in 1866.

There are still those who hold the conception that Germany's challenge over the Sudeten issue should have been met and war declared on her if she invaded that area and fought with the Czechs. War would not have saved Czechoslovakia from being conquered, and the Czechs knew this full well. They capitulated to the German demand rather than see their country trampled underfoot. This fact has its tragic aspects; it is a bitter realization, and it has given dictatorship a firmer hold in Central Europe. It is as well, however, that the Sudeten problem was settled as it was rather than by the expenditure of millions of lives; as an outcome of which there would have been no Czechoslovakia left to save. It is conceivable that the challenge of dictatorship must be met ultimately, but when the time comes democracy must be well assured that it has a battlefield upon which to fight.

BRITISH INVESTMENTS IN CANADA

It is claimed sometimes that British capital is not contributing to the development of this Dominion as it should be expected to do. The reason is not far to seek. Of the British capital already invested here some $1,000,000,000 is in railway securities, and there is a railway problem in the country which the Government is doing nothing to solve. It may well be doubted if British capital will flow to Canada again in any great volume until such time as railway investments are again on a paying basis. It is shortsightedness in the realm of government that is doing more than anything else to retard the Dominion's development. The decline in British investments has been most marked since the incubus of railway losses was placed on the shoulders of the taxpayers. In commenting on the general investment situation, The Globe and Mail of Toronto says:

"Before the World War, Canada's industrial expansion bore close relation to the inflow of British capital. The halt in 1914 is understandable. Taking its place was a substantial portion of the war wealth piled up in the United States, and we have not re-enlisted the interest of the British investor which has been extended elsewhere. From 1926 to 1935 British investments here increased only from $2,597,800,000 to $2,729,300,000. Those of United States capital, which reached $3,161,200,000 in 1926, were $4,044,600,000 ten years later. We are now obliged to pay much of our foreign debt in American currency, and sometimes at a substantial premium which affects our economic life. . . . Meanwhile the Canadian taxpayer is being bled white for funds to support idle people and enable Governments to provide substitutes for private business enterprise. Stripping the issue of its aspects of loyalty and patriotism the taxpayer is being cheated by trifling politicians."

CAUSES OF WAR

History furnishes the knowledge that in the last 538 years the world has only been entirely at peace for 51 years. This commentary on certain aspects of human nature has been the Searle Grain Company, which reveals in statistics, to endeavor to discover the causes of war and the reasons why they are so difficult to eliminate. Of the nations that have been at war in the period under consideration, France has fought for 300 years; Russia, 261 years; Austria, 238 years; Great Britain, 232 years; Spain, 213 years; Turkey, 192 years; Germany, 187 years; Italy, 117 years; Holland, 106 years; Portugal, 40 years, and the United States 27 years.

The basic cause of so much war, if the investigations of the Searle Company are to be believed, is man's "unfortunate genetic make-up which consists mainly of certain defects which seem to be so deeply ingrained in man's nature." Those defects are described as selfishness, greed and envy. The first, according to the survey, shows itself in an unwillingness to share with others those resources of soil and minerals which Nature has made available in and on the earth, and which certain nations now possess. Greed, it seems, is born of the struggle for existence, "the urge or the fear that man must accumulate things in order to tide over times of scarcity that might come." Envy, another cause of war, is described as "the uncontrollable desire of any individual or nation to be as well off as other people; the determination to make others share with him the things that others own and have accumulated by one means or another." These characteristics—selfishness, greed and envy—are described as basic. Can they be eliminated by any human agency?

Open your mouth and purse cautiously, and your stock of wealth and reputation shall, at least in repute, be great.—Zimmerman.

Note and Comment

By Sandham Graves

If there is one fixed aim that this column has striven for sincerely and impartially over the last two years it is an airport for Victoria. The need is genuine. The case is non-political. The desire is unanimous; and only the ways and means remain to be solved. Yesterday, consequently upon the return of Mr. B. W. Mayhew, M.P., from Ottawa, two important new elements were added to the case. First, the Trans-Canada Air Lines was reported by Mr. Mayhew as being desirous of linking the 80,000 people in the Greater Victoria area to the Trans-Canada Airway. Secondly, Mr. Mayhew reported the Federal Minister of Transport was encouraging co-operative with regard to the use of the new military airfield at Patricia Bay for the purpose, pending establishment of an airport, of linking the Greater Victoria area to the Trans-Canada Airway. Mayhew went further, and said that "substantial assistance" would be given Victoria in provision of terminal air facilities. Summing it up, that means progress, and endorses the fresh impetus to the question of ways and means. Since Victoria's member at Ottawa has taken up the issue and has got that far, would it be altogether out of line to suggest that Victoria's members at Victoria lend their support to the matter? Victoria's claims on the Province have not been exhaustive. It bought almost the whole of its own waterfront, unaided. It has waited forty years now for a new courthouse, ten years for a Federal building. "Still" has its old postoffice and a new roof, fixed its own seawall, and has furnished all of its street improvements itself. Meanwhile, it has foregone much it could have asked for in the past. Now that there is a genuine need, is it not possible that the Province might view the case with a not unsympathetic eye? It should be worth a trial, anyway. If lands can be set aside for a beach-park, and a new island, and a new road, and other purposes; perhaps the odd parcel might be found for an airport, in the right place. The problem is one of land and funds. The Province might be glad to assist in the purchase of land, but not the airway. Until you ask, you will never know. Why not ask?

Not in an invidious, partisan way, but merely as a matter of plain record, the Province has done much for Lower Mainland communities. If memory serves, it was the Province that bought and handed to Vancouver most of its waterfront. It was the Province, using relief labor, that repaired and improved Vancouver's marine drive; cleared storm damage to trees in Stanley Park; repaired groyne and sea erosion at English Bay; contributed university, hospital, clinical, police, and several other buildings; made special allowances with relief costs, for Lower Mainland communities. It was helpful and encouraging with horse racing, the annual Summer exhibition and the annual Winter show; and, in general, has been found through the years to have an open ear for the Lower Mainland. Not from such a record as that, might not Victoria and the southern end of Vancouver Island take heart and encouragement? I think indeed that they might; and the gentleman who very helpfully inquired that 80,000 people mean something to the Province, too. They are, in short, more than one-tenth of the voters in British Columbia. Such nice, patient people, too! Even if the Province had no land that was suitable at all, there are other things that might well suggest themselves; such as the importance of linking Victoria with Ottawa by air, the desirability of making a link between the service trans-continental; to say nothing of the convenience of Mainland members at week-ends. Beyond that, the present provincial administration is genuinely the first flying Cabinet of British Columbia, with an air-venger now in six figures. The Province is air-minded. Perhaps it is only waiting to be asked.

As it looks now, the Trans-Canada Air Lines and Greater Victoria have the need; the Dominion has volunteered part of the money; and the Province might logically be approached to help with part of the land, or its equivalent. With the expansion of two small strips at Patricia Bay, it would be the first time the community ever asked the Province for enough land on which to spread even a small picnic handkerchief. Its use would be national, Canadian wide, and Victoria would still have a large-size task to do in finding whatever was necessary to put the whole scheme through. At the moment the city is offered a share in the Trans-Canada air service, involving eventually express mail and passenger transportation, with temporary use of the Patricia Bay military airfield. By all means let that be accepted and without any delay. Then, let everyone unite in whistling away at the remaining problems. They are many and real. For twenty years Victoria has been flirting with flight proposals. Now let us go after results in real earnest. It is your baby and mine, this airport business. Just pinch it in the right place, and it will grow. If it doesn't, it won't be heard. If it is not heard, it won't be fed. If it is not fed, it will die. If it dies, you will never have an airport; and will never fly; but everybody else will. For twenty years flying men have been trying to tell you that. For twenty years this column has spoken of little else. Of course there are obstacles; but put them up on deck, and whittle away at them. Mr. Mayhew is whistling, and more power to him. Let the chips fall where they may!

LOOKS FOR RALLY

GLACIATION-ON-SEA, England, Oct. 11 (AP)—The "rally" that we have reached the bottom of the world trade recession" was made today by Ronald Cross, Parliamentary secretary to the Board of Trade. Addressing the conference of the National Chamber of Commerce here, Mr. Cross said "on the whole it would be reasonable to look for a rally in prices."

Such is Fame

While our tobaccoist friend was at Seattle, the proprietor of a refreshment place asked him if he intended to spend any time fishing in the lakes and streams adjoining the city. "Vancouver Island ends at Victoria, does it not? I don't suppose you have any place for fresh-water fishing," the Seattleite remarked. In ten minutes the tobaccoist gave the refreshment man such a sales talk on island waters that he immediately decided to spend a week here next year. . . . Although Broad Street Bertie has owned a series of automobiles, a friend informed us that Bertie had never driven over the Malahat. We can assure Bertie there are many points of interest on the other side of the big hill. . . . We are always amused at the expression, "His promise is like pie crust." The assumption is that such a promise is easily broken. We hope our promises are like the wife's pie—enduring.—O.B.

Public Holidays

Apart from the very important fact that they provide a welcome release from the daily toil, public holidays seem rather pointless if the people don't know what it is that they are supposed to be observing. Take Thanksgiving Day, for example. In a room full of people on Monday, the question was asked as to what was the significance of Thanksgiving Day. There was the usual pause that follows an awkward question. Some frankly admitted that they didn't know; others thought that the holiday had something to do with "the harvest," but none was able to say definitely what the origin of Thanksgiving Day was. To them it was just another holiday.—R.M.

Glancing Over Sport

Do you know that the San Francisco World's Fair next year will stage a world's championship lawn tennis tournament? Lawn experts from all over the globe will compete in the various events. . . . Gabby Hartnett, manager of the Cubs, states that only three of the Chicago club will be sure of their places next year. They are Bill Lee and Clay Bryant, pitchers, and Stanley Hack, third sacker. All the rest will have to fight for their berths. . . . Manager Joe McCarthy, of the triumphant Yankees, says that his club will be twenty-five per cent stronger next season. Charlie Keller, of Newark, the best player in minor league ball, will be with the club and is practically a cinch for an outfield berth. . . . That opening Anasom Cup soccer match on Thanksgiving Day was worthy of better support. It was a fast game, with both clubs showing up well on the slippery ground. No more than 200 watched the boys. Basketball opens tonight at the High School gym with the much-talked-of Dominions-Northern Western Creamery game holding the spotlight. Let's hope it's a good clean battle, and may the better club win. . . . The sensational Hank Rowe should be a great help to the Dominions. Hank is the best running guard since Doug Peden raced up and down the High School court.—J.D.

Saving the Day

The phrase "the show must go on" took on a new meaning for a certain radio star the other day, but nevertheless he was true to the old adage of the show business. After securing his marriage licence in San Francisco the clerk inquired of the artist where the nuptials were to be held. Naming a certain church in Oakland, the couple were taken aback when the clerk informed them they would have to be married in the city, as the church was in another county. Things looked particularly black, for a ready-made crowd was thronging to the church where the marriage was supposed to have been held. Costly decorations had been draped in the structure, but it seemed as though there were no solution to the vexing problem. However, promptly at 2 o'clock the bride and groom were united in marriage according to their original plans, and then immediately after the ceremony, in a hall of rice, disappeared into the distance. Fifteen minutes later the couple was standing in the bride's San Francisco apartment, and with her maid as witness, the minister was reading the marriage service all over again—this time for keeps. By the time the wedding guests arrived at the new apartment of the happy pair, the star and his wife were legally wed according to the dictates of San Francisco County.—W.F.

SPANISH REFUGEES

Spain broke out, the Service Council of the Society of Friends (Quakers) in Great Britain sent voluntary workers to that country. They opened relief centres for refugees, and are at present feeding more than 20,000 in Catalonia, in seventy canteens, mostly children under ten years. Ten farm colonies have been organized to take some of the children away from air raid centres. Alfred Jacob, who is in charge of the work, writes: "Our administrative work costs one and one-quarter cents per child per month, and though the complete maintenance and education of a refugee child in a colony cost $1.25 a week, the breakfast and tea given daily in the refugee canteens cost only thirty-six cents per month. Three large canteens have been opened in severely distressed cities, where for thirty cents we shall give each child a plate heaped high with rice pudding daily, month by month. . . . This, we think, is something of a miracle, but we are approaching a winter when greater miracles will have to be worked."

There is urgent need of funds. Children over ten years are being turned away from the canteens, as there is not enough money to feed them. The last report says: "Unless relief comes on a very large scale before the winter, the situation may well develop into wholesale starvation."

Alfred Jacob has the complete confidence of the authorities, and Premier Negrin has said he would facilitate any work for which Friends took responsibility. American Friends are feeding 42,000 daily.

Will you make a Thanksgiving gift to these needy children?

Gifts may be sent to the Friends Service Council, Friends House, 8, Endsleigh Gardens, London, W.C. 1, or to the General Relief Fund, 35, Weymouth Street, London, W.1, or to me as clerk of the Victoria Friends Meeting.

CZECHOSLOVAKIA

Slir—Surely it is time someone turned to the rather hysterical acclamation of Mr. Chamberlain to acclaim the nobility, dignity and calm with which the Czechs have made their immense sacrifice for world peace?

Those of us who still believe that a firm and more definite stand on the part of Russia, France, and Britain would have averted war, and achieved an equally peaceable and probably juster compromise, are ready enough to be proud of and thankful for Mr. Chamberlain's sincerity and immense courage in assuming such a position. His responsibility for what he believes to be the right attitude; but nothing in the entire history of the affair can equal the heroic response of the Czechs in their apparent humiliation and betrayal—a response without an animosity or pettiness of any kind.

One supposes that most thinking Britons have grave doubts as to the value, either immediate or eventual, of the German signature; and we may yet find ourselves fooled again. But anything may happen in a breathing space, and perhaps while it lasts Canada, as a Dominion, may recognize the fact that her silence in the hour of the Motherland's perplexity and difficulty possibly turned the scales of national decision, when for obvious temporary good or probable ill, no action was taken.

Considering that the successful (and lowest) tender was in the sum of $20,750 only, it will readily be seen what an enormous "spread" there was between the top and bottom figures, and for the same work. Further, it positively shows the dangerous channels that are left open for the working of the patronage "system," when—as in the case of the Pacific Highway and other contract awards—the opportunity to tender was denied even to responsible firms.

We may now look forward to more of this open and above board policy on the part of Government departments.

"NEUTRALITY A MYTH"

Slir—Your article under this heading had the true patriotic ring about it, and the sentence, "The Empire in matters of peace or war is an Empire that is one and indivisible" is surely inspiring, but I have some misgivings. Baldwin said the Empire was bound together by thin gossamer threads, and British policy in the recent past has done nothing towards strengthening them. I refer to the signing of a treaty guaranteeing the borders of what remains in Czechoslovakia. If Britain signs for the Empire, one and indivisible, then Canada, without being asked, becomes a guarantor of Czechoslovakia, a country in the centre of Europe, which has no relations whatever with Canada. This may be patriotic, but sounds like sheer lunacy to me.

Lord Baldwin urged the Empire about four years ago to realize that it was not then in a military position to keep its word of honor, and the result of our inadequate response to that reminder has been craven desertion of Ethiopia, brutal dismemberment of a democratic country, a loyal friend, a great little nation, Czechoslovakia.

Mentioning neutrality brings to mind the neutrality of Belgium. This most important subject has not been referred to in any press reports, yet it must have had a great influence on Hitler's bold policy, for with Belgium's neutrality respected by the Powers, and Belgium eliminated as a battlefield, there would be left merely the frontier of France and Germany. This is about 200 miles long, half of which is along the Rhine and is quite impassable. This leaves about 100 miles from the Rhine to the Luxembourg border. This 100 miles. We are assured by both France and Germany, is impregnable.

Both armies would resemble dogs barking at each other through the fence. The shorter the frontier, the fewer troops required to defend it. Hitler could have held this line with a part of his army, and have conquered the Czechs with the main forces. Britain and France could not possibly have violated Belgium's neutrality. PEPPER A. Friday With All Accommodation Taken

When the big Canadian Pacific liner Empress of Japan, Captain L. D. Douglas, R.N.R., commander, sails from Victoria on Friday afternoon, twenty-four hours ahead of her regular sailing time, she will take out one of the biggest south and westbound passenger lists carried for some time.

Unable to book all the tourist class travelers applying for accommodation, only a few first-class cabins were available yesterday, while third-class passengers will be well represented. The liner is due to sail for Honolulu, her first port of call, at 8:30 o'clock.

ROYAL MAIL SHIP

Coming in from the United Kingdom by way of Panama and California, the Royal Mail Lines Lochmoran is expected by Adam P. Moffat and partners some time tomorrow. The Lochmoran has passengers and cargo for this port aboard.

MOVERIA DOCKS

The Donaldson Line Moeria, Captain A. McKeehan, tied up alongside Rutherford Piers at 1 p.m. yesterday. Completing discharge of 150 tons of general cargo, the Moeria continued to Mainland ports early last evening.

STOWING LUMBER

Loading lumber for the United Kingdom, the freighter St. Northleigh, Captain G. C. Price, is alongside Ogden Point Dock and she arrived from the West Coast of Vancouver Island on Friday evening and is expected to complete today. The Northleigh is taking 900,000 feet of lumber at the local assembly plant.

REACHED DAWSON

Bill Mucklow, New Westminster, who rowed a boat all the way to Skagway, shipped it over the White Pass by train to White Horse and continued his journey down the Yukon, reached Dawson about three weeks ago. He was in the pink of condition, according to The Dawson News, when he arrived there.

BUILDING NEW TUG

The Star Shipyard, Queenborough, has started building a $40,000 tugboat for Gilley Brothers, Ltd., New Westminster. The new tug will be one of the finest of its kind on the Coast, rigidly following Lloyd's requirements and using yellow cedar for framing and decking. The tug will measure sixty-five feet in length. The hull will be sheathed with quarter-inch steel plates, adequate for rugged service and for ice-breaking. She will be powered with a 250-horsepower Diesel engine of the latest type. The new tug will be ready for launching about January 1.

APPLE SHIPMENTS

Apple shipments started to New Westminster for the present season at New Westminster over the last week-end when $4,000 boxes were loaded aboard fast express ships. The crack ship of the Fruit Express Line, Mv. British Columbia Express, had the distinction of loading the biggest cargo of the year to date—forty-one cars, or 31,000 boxes. The Purcell Line, Mv. Pacific Ranger, loaded twelve cars of apples, 800 tons of metal and some general; while Mv. Elizabeth Bakke took nine cars of apples and some general. The Viking Star, due to arrive at the Fraser River port, is fixed to load fifty carloads of apples.

Fairey Bombers Flying at High Speed

Pilots Photograph. A flight of Fairey battle bombers seen winging its way at high speed during practice manoeuvres. Large numbers of these swift and powerful warplanes are now in service in the Royal Air Force. Powered by a Rolls-Royce Merlin 1,050 horsepower (1,065 c.v.) liquid-cooled and beautifully streamlined engine, the battle bomber can carry a damaging military load at a top speed well in excess of 250 miles per hour in level flight. Recent big-scale air exercises revealed the tremendous striking power of these aircraft, both flying at high altitudes and "hedge-hopping" to attack enemy posts unawares.

RECOMMEND AN INVESTIGATION

Vancouver Civic Committee
On Codfish Industry
Makes Its Report

VANCOUVER, Oct. 11 (P.)—A special civic committee which probed the codfish industry last Spring today recommended a Federal investigation into charges the fish is being exterminated in the province's coastal waters by "destructive" Japanese fishing methods.

The recommendation was contained in a report to the civic marketing committee by Alderman H. J. de Graaf, chairman of the special committee which also investigated charges fishing licenses are being issued to other than British subjects in contravention of regulations.

The report also recommended a Federal probe into licence issuance and suggested the Department of Fisheries be urged to inaugurate regulations to prevent extermination of codfish. Another recommendation was to the effect a quota should be established on the number of Asiatic applicants supplied with licenses.

The report said "white fishermen unanimously condemn methods used by Japanese fishermen," and declared "90 per cent of the white fishermen work for conservation."

The committee was not prepared to recommend an inquiry into the industry under the Combines Investigation Act, the report said.

The Royal Air Force, since January 1, has lost 167 officers and men killed in ninety accidents.

PORTSMOUTH, England, Oct. 11 (P.)—Flying officer L. M. Barlow was killed today when his Royal Air Force plane fell into the sea off here.

The Dominion lighthouse tender St. Berens will arrive here this week to erect a light on Burns Point, opposite the old Barnet millsite.

The point has been a danger to navigation for many years and pilots and towboat interests have long urged that a light be placed at the point to aid navigation.

The shoal spot reported off the mouth of Capilano River, near First Narrows, may soon be dredged to proper depths.

SCHEME COULD BE DISCUSSED

Campaign to Make Canadians
More Conscious of Resources Suggested

SYDNEY, N.S., Oct. 11 (P.)—In his report to the Maritime Board of Trade, P. Macdure Scandlers, Saint John, N.B., honorary secretary, today suggested "the very careful selection of the biggest and best men we have as a basic committee" to lay out a plan for a campaign to make the citizens of Canada more-conscious of the latent natural resources and industrial possibilities of the Dominion.

He was dealing with a resolution submitted by the New Waterford, N.S., Board of Trade and passed at the last annual meeting. Mr. Scandlers suggested the scheme laid out by the proposed committee should be submitted for discussion "by a mass meeting of Maritime leaders, called at some central point. Then having decided upon the nature of the scheme, in its every aspect and detail, I do not think that there should be any insuperable difficulty to obstruct success."

It's the Follow Through that Counts

To be successful in golf, a player should keep his eye on the ball and "follow through."

To be successful in life, a man should keep his eye on the future and follow through on a definite savings programme.

Very few men, however, are able to save money for old age—regularly and consistently, keeping an eye on the future—except through Life Insurance.

That's why hundreds of thousands of thinking men entrust a large portion of their savings to Life Insurance. Then they are freed from investment worries—secure in the knowledge that they will have a guaranteed income for their later years. They are also freed from frequent temptations to withdraw their savings for the purchase of non-essentials.

Life Insurance should do more than provide family protection. It should also include a savings programme which makes it easy to build up a retirement fund for future years.

CHINESE HURT WHEN RUN OVER BY TRUCK

Chan Young, Chinese, 642 Herald Street, was taken to the Jubilee Hospital yesterday afternoon suffering from a fractured vertebra and ribs, when his truck ran over him at the corner of Avalon Road and Government Street. At a late hour last night he was reported by hospital authorities as "resting well."

Police said that the machine had presumably slipped its brakes while on a slight incline, and Chan, in an attempt to stop it, was knocked down. The wheels of the truck passed over his chest and partly over his stomach.

First aid was rendered at the police station to the injured man, who was later removed to the hospital. Dr. C. W. Duck attended.

R. W. Mayhew, M.P., Believes Community Chest Will Be Supported

Emphasizing that the public now fully appreciated the splendid public service that was being performed by the Community Chest, R. W. Mayhew, M.P. for Victoria, yesterday expressed confidence that the forthcoming drive would receive generous support.

The following voluntary statement was received from Mr. Mayhew:

"I am sure every citizen of Greater Victoria is heartily in favor of the Community Chest.

"Last year a number of people that I know did not give because they were afraid it would not be a success and so would not be able to do the work intended. The chest's record during the past twelve months has more than reassured them, and they are now going to help to the full extent of their power.

"Other people who made, so to speak, only a token subscription last year are doubling their donations this time.

"The chest has such a big worthwhile job to do—supporting twenty-four school agencies and organizations—that I feel we should all give, and give as much as we can. And knowing Victorians as I do, I am sure that is what we are all going to do."

CUT RAILWAY AND LAUNCH CAMPAIGN

landing in South China long had been expected to coincide with the final assault against Hankow.

The Japanese were reported to have captured Sinyang in a surprise attack from nearby Wulitien.

Capture of the vitally important town would cut off the railway connecting Hankow with the Peking-Hankow railway, previously reported cut south of Sinyang by an advance guard, and cut off Hankow's communication with the Chinese Communist army stronghold at Shan in Shensi Province.

STRONG POSITION
It would place the Japanese in a strong position to launch a final thrust southward against Hankow.

The landing in South China was made after the Mainland and near-by Bias Bay islands were shelled heavily. A report at Hongkong on Monday said at least 35,000 men were aboard the Japanese transport ships in the bay awaiting orders to land.

TO STOP MUNITIONS
TOKIO, Oct. 12 (AP)—Japanese effected a landing in South China early today and a War Ministry official said the operation was designed to cut the flow of munitions to the Chinese war front from Canton and the British colony of Hongkong.

The official did not say whether the new offensive meant a general attack on Canton, South China metropolis and last important link between Hankow and the coast.

Imperial headquarters announced the landing had been made by a force composed of soldiers and marines in Kwangtung Province, but did not disclose the exact spot.

DISRUPT RAIL SERVICE
PEKING, Oct. 11 (AP)—Chinese guerrilla warriors celebrated the twenty-seventh anniversary of the Chinese republican revolution on Monday by disrupting service on the Tientsin-Peking railway for twelve hours.

Chinese sources said the guerrillas attacked three principal towns between Tientsin and Peking, forcing the Japanese to rush troops and planes from the Peking area.

The Japanese acknowledged traffic interrupted from midnight to noon yesterday by a mine explosion under a bridge near Tientsin. They said engineers in armored cars reached the damaged bridge quickly, but reported no fighting.

Meanwhile the night-and-run Chinese guerrillas attacked other trains south of Tientsin on the line of Tientsin and removed rails.

The annual meeting of Ward Four Spanish Ratepayers, which was scheduled to take place last night, was postponed until Tuesday, October 18, in the Marigold Hall at 8 p.m.

LIGHTING PLANT DATA OBTAINED

L. Brimer Returns From Alberta—Bus Service Map Being Prepared

Supplied with exhaustive data on municipally-operated electric lighting plants throughout Alberta, L. F. Brimer returned to the City Hall yesterday. Mr. Brimer is chief engineer in the office of R. W. Beck, public utilities analyst and engineer employed by the City Council as an adviser on franchise matters.

Mayor Andrew McGavin indicated that Mr. Beck's final report to the council on matters concerning the electric light and power franchise would contain submissions relative to a municipal plant.

In discussing bus franchise questions, the mayor stated that a tentative map of routes was being prepared by Mr. Beck's office. He added that all areas at present served by street cars would be adequately taken care of with buses when the trams ceased to operate. It is believed that between fifty-five and sixty buses will be necessary.

PREPARING SCHEDULE
Mr. Beck's office is at present preparing a schedule of fares and service frequency for buses. Tenders will be called by the City Council.

Mayor McGavin said he was giving thought to the formation of a Greater Victoria transportation board to deal with the bus question. He indicated the review of the three adjoining municipalities would be given ample opportunity to co-operate with the City Council in the solution of the bus service problem.

PERSONAL ITEMS and SOCIAL HAPPENINGS

Miss Humphrey Gives Talk on South Africa

Impressions of her visit to South Africa were related by Miss Ruth Humphrey at a meeting of the University Women's Club last evening at the home of the Misses Aylard, Elliott Street. Miss Humphrey spent fifteen months in South Africa and returned recently.

She told of many phases of life in that country, touching upon the various schools of thought which are so diversified, and she contrasted the intense nationalism of such a centre as the University of Stellenbosch with the point of view apparent in Barotseland, where, she said, "the contemporary world has almost disappeared."

MANY PROBLEMS

It was interesting and surprising to note, she said, that the Anglo-Boer war was still very close in thought and that there were many evidences of its proximity. All bitterness would have softened were it not for the fact that it was encouraged by the politicians of the Nationalist party, she declared. The speaker touched upon the "burning" language question and the "color problem." She told of her visits to farms, where she was able to learn much of the ways of the people and to obtain a better understanding of their problems.

A series of photographs, which Dr. Kaye Lamb showed by means of his projector, gave the audience a more complete picture of the land of contrasts which Miss Humphrey so ably described.

Mrs. H. L. Smith, the president, was in the chair and announced that the next meeting of the club would be held on November 16 at the home of Mrs. H. E. Young, Oliver Street. Dr. Alton Peabody will be the speaker. On December 9, the club will celebrate its thirtieth anniversary by a dinner at the Empress Hotel.

On October 28, the new household economics unit at the Victoria High School will be opened and the club members were invited to tea.

It was also announced that the $100 scholarship, presented by Senator and Mrs. Green and known as the Cecilia Green Memorial Scholarship, had been presented through the club to Ernest McMinn, now at Victoria College.

Miss Lois Hamblett, an accomplished young pianist, played two delightful numbers and was given a hearty vote of thanks. Supper was served at the conclusion of the meeting.

History of Jade Interests Club

"The History of Jade" was the subject of an informative and delightful address given by Mrs. E. G. Maynard at the supper meeting of the Victoria Business and Professional Women's Club last evening. The speaker traced the history of jade since 7000 B.C., when it was used as a coinage in China. As the "stone of heaven," jade was thought to possess almost magical qualities and was able to ward off evil. The majority of jade comes from Burma. Mrs. Maynard said, where 2,000 Chinese work to produce it. The stone is polished by hand with jewel-dust, and some of the finest jade is polished with jade-dust itself. The speaker described the jade auction in Peiping, where the sale is conducted in absolute silence, the method of purchase being an enigma to the uninitiated.

Miss Bessie Crowther expressed the club's thanks to Mrs. Maynard for her address. Mrs. Harold Lloyd was soloist, her charmingly sung numbers being: "Three Questions" (Johnson) and "Were I" (Bond). Mrs. James A. Bland, the president, was in the chair. It was announced that the club's next "open house" would be held on Tuesday, October 18, in the clubrooms, and plans were made for a Halloween party in the rooms on October 31.

ALL READY

"You ain't one of them fellows who drop their tools and scoot as soon as knock-off blows are you?" "Not me. Why, I often have to wait five minutes after I put my tools away before the whistle goes."

Thirty-five tables already having been reserved. Both bridge players and tea guests will participate in the prizes, to be awarded at the conclusion of the afternoon. Mrs. J. W. Hudson is convening the affair and is being assisted by an able committee, composed of Mrs. L. A. Grogan, Mrs. Walter Walker and Mrs. F. F. Beckett. Mrs. M. E. Langford, a charter member, and Mrs. S. Colgate, will pour during the tea hour.

Public Play To Be Given Next Month

"Night Must Fall" is the title of the three-act play to be given by the Victoria Little Theatre at the Shrine Auditorium on Friday, November 4. It was announced at the monthly meeting of the association held last night at the clubrooms, 1240 Rockland Avenue. An outstanding cast has been chosen, with Fraser Lister and Anne Breton in the leads. This will be the Little Theatre's first public play for the 1938-39 season.

Members were asked to note that tryouts for three plays will take place in the clubrooms on Saturday night, at 8 o'clock. After business, pertaining to the Little Theatre's 1938-39 season was transacted, a programme was presented to the members and their friends, who filled the clubrooms.

A clever comedy, directed by H. S. Hurn, was well received. Taking part were: Fraser Lister, Anne Breton, Vivienne Combe, Dulais Homer, Mrs. E. Gibson and Philip Heal. The new orchestra, under the direction of Alex Scott, made its first appearance last night and played during the intermissions. IN THE SHADOW OF THE WINDMILLS—DESIGN NO. 638
Dear Readers: Our designer says this young miss is preparing little cakes, but an artist who sits nearby insists it must be cheese. Perhaps she is working magic with tulip petals as the broad arms of the windmills turn and creak. Whichever it may be, she makes a perfect decoration to answer your requests for a breakfast cloth, napkins and matching curtains. The checks on the dress are small straight stitches in Dutch blue. Her shoes are yellow and her apron and cap white.

The pattern includes transfers of the designs, material requirements, diagrams of stitches, with color guides and keys.

Senior Teams to Open Basketball Schedule Tonight

Northwestern Creamery to Meet Dominos in Main Event on Three-Game Programme in Victoria And District League—Starting Line-Ups Are Announced by the Managers

The stage is all set for the opening shots to be fired in the senior division of the Victoria and District Basketball League tonight at the Victoria High School gymnasium, with the Northwestern Creamery facing the Dominos, provincial finalists last season against Westerns, present Canadian titleholders. A three-game programme has been lined up by league officials, with the first game of the season bringing together Gainers, British Columbia senior women's monarchs, against the Cardinals, starting at 7:15. Y.M.C.A. and the Bees, Intermediate "A" clubs, will be in the second game at 8 o'clock, and the main attraction is due to commence at 9 o'clock.

Manager Carl Coates, former member of the Dominos, is looking after the Northwestern Creamery this season, and announced his line-up for the opening yesterday. Playing under the colors of the Canadian Scottish last season, the Creamery quintette is reported to be fast and full of fight. Coates will open the team with Doug Brady and Ralph Shepherd as guards, and will have Doug White on the left flank, Bill Lovell in centre and Earl Foster on the other wing. Ready for emergency duties will be Morry Hornsby, Toots Purdy and Frank Myres.

DOMINOS' LINE-UP

On the other side of the ledger, Davi Nicol, boss of the Dominos, has a pretty potent squad ready for action. Playing on the back division will be Chuck Chapman and Hank Rowe, who just returned from the University of Oregon. Rowe will be playing his old position of running guard and will most likely see plenty of action in the "bucket" position, a spot where points come fast and furious if the plays are clicking. At the tip-off berth will be Art Chapman, and just who will be flanking him at the start of the game was not announced. However, the Dominos' boss will have Busher Jackson, Roy Taylor, Bert Davies, Bob Myres, Henry Motilshaw and a chap named Hicks, formerly of Montreal, to select from.

Great interest has been aroused over the game, and a bumper crowd is expected to head for the High School gym during the evening. Both clubs finished their training sessions yesterday, and will be in good condition when Referee Bob Macmurchie and Bill Levy call them into battle.

CONACHER IS SIGNED WITH DETROIT CLUB

Wings Pay $16,000 for Veteran Sniper of the Toronto Leafs

DETROIT, Oct. 11 (AP)—Installation of Charlie Conacher, veteran sniper of the Toronto Maple Leafs, in a $16,000 transaction that will not be terminated for two years and then only if Conacher's play rather than a lack of cash inspired the method of transaction on the part of the Detroit club owned by James D. Norris, internationally known gram operator.

Detroit paid Toronto $5,000, and will pay off the balance in annual payments of $5,000 and $6,000 if Conacher continues able to play. Conacher, one-time big bomber of the National Hockey League, was on the sidelines most of last season and retired from the game on advice of his physicians in hockey might result in permanent injury.

Conacher is the healthiest man in Canada now, said James D. Norris, Jr., son of the Detroit owner. "I asked him if he thought he could score six thirty points over the season, and without talking boastfully he said 'I can score that many points sitting down.' We think he can."

Manager Jack Adams, announcing acquisition of Conacher, said there was a possibility he might place the big right-winger on a line with Marty Barry and Herbie Lewis, two of the Red Wings' veteran stars. Conacher, twenty-nine, and scaling 238 pounds, is due to report here Thursday.

Local Rugby Season Will Be Ushered in Saturday Afternoon

Two Intermediate League Matches Scheduled at Macdonald Park—Victoria College and Oak Bay Wanderers Clash on Upper Pitch

Victoria College, present holders of the Heyland Cup, symbolic of the intermediate Rugby championship, and the Oak Bay Wanderers, runners-up to the collegians in the 1937-38 title chase, will resume just where they left off last season, when they clash in one of the two opening games Saturday at Macdonald Park. Canadian Scottish and Navy Blues are the other fifteens scheduled to see action at the James Bay enclosure.

The kick-offs are set for 3 o'clock. Dan Dowell, veteran rugger who piloted the Craigdarroch boys to a good start in the current season's campaign, has been retained as coach and will be out with another well-balanced team, "Mickey" Murray, former player, will make his debut as mentor, and will have charge of the Oak Bay Wanderers in the 1938-39 race. Murray has a tough assignment in the opening battle. He will be out to avenge the 7-6 setback the Wanderers sustained in the play-off last year and get his proteges away to a good start in the current season's campaign.

Senior squads will not see action until the following Saturday, the official opening being set back one week at the request of some of the clubs. Five teams, J.B.A.A., Oak Bay Wanderers, Navy, Garrison and Canadian Scottish have entered, and pre-season indications point to a keen race for the silverware.

ROBERTS NAMED COACH

Joe Roberts, former varsity player, has been named coach of the Oak Bay Wanderers, and will probably see action as a regular member of the squad. The Oak Bay fifteen will be minus some of their 1937-38 stars, but promising youngsters from the intermediate division will plug the gaps, and when the season gets under way the clubs will be capable of making things interesting for the remainder of the pack.

J.B.A.A., who saw action two weeks ago against the Vancouver Rowing Club, have their championship line-up practically intact and will be strong contenders in the race for the honors. Sailor and soldier squads have new players to throw into the fray, while the Canadian Scottish, returning to senior company after a lapse of a few seasons, should be right in the thick of the battle.

The Victoria Rugby Union has been granted the use of the upper field at Beacon Hill Park, and league matches will be played on that field during the season. Plans for the dance to be staged at the Empress Hotel on Friday, December 9, are moving along nicely, with Jack Rutan, Joe Roberts and Wilf Gibson as the committee in charge of arrangements.

UP-ISLAND CRICKET CLUB IS ORGANIZED

In preparation for the opening of the 1939 cricket season, formation of a Qualicum-Parkville cricket club was decided on at a meeting of local cricketers at Parkville last week-end. Officials announced that they have been given disposal of an excellent field, which will be sown to grass this fall.

Officers chosen to head the club were: E. L. Mollet, president; R. I. Knight, vice-president; G. H. Knight, secretary; H. V. S. Page, treasurer, and W. Dunbar, team captain.

Draw Necessary to Decide Top Winners in Tillicum Fishing Derby

J. W. Bond, S. Henson and Johnny Barr carried off the three major awards in the Tillicum Athletic Club's second annual salmon derby held recently at Brentwood. The event was staged under the direction of the Chinook Club of the Victoria-Saanich Inlet Anglers' Association and, despite poor weather and the lateness of the season, attracted a large entry.

The trio of derbyists each hooked a nine and one-half-pound salmon, and were forced to draw for first, second and third prizes. J. W. Bond won the first, a silver coffee urn set; S. Henson took the second prize, a silver tea service, with third prize, a leather traveling bag, going to Johnny Barr.

Tommy Spencer and Charles Prewett tied for fourth place, each landing a nine-pound specimen and, in the subsequent draw, Prewett won fourth prize. The rowboat special prize went to R. Knight with an eight-pounder, while Mrs. Thomas Burns and Randolph Terro won the women's and men's consolation awards, respectively.

Mrs. Jack Wormald, wife of Jack Wormald, president of the Tillicum Athletic Club, presented the prizes at the conclusion of the day's fishing. Harry Woolston, president of the Chinook Club, introduced Mrs. Wormald.

Jane Dixon Says:

THE BRIDE-ELECT, WHO INSISTED ON HAVING A CHURCH WEDDING MORE ELABORATE THAN HER PARENTS COULD AFFORD, FOUND HAPPINESS WHEN SHE STOPPED BEING SELFISH

It always is a delightful surprise, in retrospect, to find the thing we thought we had to have was not necessary and that which we substituted for it, so reluctantly, was the real choice after all.

Dear Miss Dixon:

I wrote to you recently to ask you if you didn't agree that a girl who had set her heart on having a big church wedding should have it even if she had to postpone marrying a while and make a lot of sacrifices to put it over.

I was very much put out when you answered. You didn't agree with me at all. You advised me to go on with the wedding, to make it simple, inexpensive and to fill the house with love and gladness and some garlands of garden flowers.

You said that would be a lot more fun than a lot of worries, big and little, lurking in corners and sticking their tongue out at me just when I should be happiest. Your promise to me that if I gave up the big idea and used the smaller and sounder one I would never regret it, made me realize you were not trying to balk me, you were trying to help me. So I stopped being miffed at you and took your advice under consideration.

I guess giving up that church wedding was about the hardest thing I ever did. My fiancé, now my husband, said it was up to me, and father and mother said I was to have the sort of wedding I wanted. But I knew they would have to borrow money, scrape every cent they could raise to give it to me. It would cost the bridegroom money, too, money we should use in our new little home.

One morning I awakened with a start and I felt light and happy, as though a load had been lifted from my shoulders. I knew right then I was not going to have the big wedding. I would not postpone the date. We'd go right ahead, but this time simplicity would be the main idea.

I wish you could have seen the relief on mother's face when I told her, and on dad's, too, how thrilled they were when they found out I wanted a simple wedding. I wasn't just being noble about it.

Miss Dixon, we had a darling wedding. All the neighbors sent their very nicest flowers from their gardens until the house was a regular old-fashioned bower. The guests were our families and all our real friends, so everybody had a grand time. It was a celebration, not a show. Dad and mother gave us a nice cheque for extra things on our honeymoon trip. They felt rich when they saved all that money on the wedding.

I hope if some other bride-to-be is sticking to her foolish dream instead of turning to a new and kinder dream, she will write to you and be shaken out of her folly. Thank you for making me open my eyes.—Happy Bride.

Comment: Thank you, Happy Bride, for telling me about the wedding. May your honeymoon be full and mellow and luminous forever. (Copyright, 1938, by The BFD Syndicate, Inc.)

with a view to supplementing its campaign.

This above expression arose from a discussion centered round the fact that motorists still persisted in driving in a careless manner through school zones and that the warning signs in the vicinities of the institutions were not large enough to be plainly visible.

Thomas Sturgess, chairman of the aviation committee, and his fellow workers, were instructed to co-operate with a similar committee of the senior chamber in the event of an attempt being made to establish an airport here, thus connecting Victoria with the trans-Canada air service.

Preparations for the annual Christmas home decorative lighting contest plans will commence in the near future. Jack Hartree, editor of the group's publication, The Capital Speaks, announced the first edition of the current term would be ready before the next meeting.

PRAISES CITY CHEST DRIVE

Brig.-Gen. V. W. Odium High
In Commendation of Victoria Welfare Efforts

Praising the splendid showing made by the canvassers in last year's initial Community Chest drive in Victoria, Brig.-General Victor W. Odium, honorary chairman of the Vancouver Welfare Federation, last night pointed out to 135 members of the campaign committee at a dinner in Spencer's dining-room the natural advantages possessed by Victoria for the welfare drive of that nature.

"In Vancouver we are a little bit jealous of the tremendous success achieved by your organization in its first year of existence. Last year you achieved a total of $85,000, after setting yourself a goal of only $75,000. Proportionately we have never been able to approach that per capita percentage, even after eight years of effort," the guest speaker stated.

Factors which greatly retarded more generous response by the citizens of the mainland city were listed by the speaker. Lower average wealth, a mixed population and opposition from civic bodies played great parts in slowing down the city's Chest drive, General Odium said.

AN IDEAL PLACE

"Here, however, you have unity, good organization and the backing of civic leaders. Your city is an ideal place to carry on a relief measure of this type. However, I would like to add that while you have already surpassed our efforts with an average donation of $1.33 per head, I still think that total could be boosted higher with further effort this year."

Before resuming his seat, General Odium lauded the efforts of the women's committees both in Victoria and in Vancouver, stating that they were in essence the very heart of the whole Chest campaign. In both cities the women's committees were assigned to cover the residential sections of the centres, with the result that, while the business sections yielded more money to the male canvassers, women spent long, weary hours soliciting Chest funds, and often had little to show for their efforts.

OFFICIALS INTRODUCED

Prior to introducing the speaker to the assembly, which was representative of some twenty-four Victoria societies and organizations, the chairman, R. H. B. Ker, introduced officials heading the various Chest committees which will make their appeals for funds throughout the various civic centres.

Mr. Ker also pointed out that although business conditions this year were not up to the 1937 level, the goal set by the executive was slightly larger. This year's drive will aim at collecting some $80,000.

Immediately following the "Dutch Treat" dinner, members of the Community Chest committees were entertained by the U.C.T. Glee Club, under the guidance of Sam Winterbottom.

Court of Appeal Victoria Sittings

Rex (R) vs. Gordon Lim, Chang Sing Jung, Wong Ying, Lee Hoy and Lum Hui (A)—This is an appeal by the accused in a criminal case. The accused were charged before the Honorable Mr. Justice Robertson and a jury at the Fall Assize (1937) in Vancouver with conspiracy to commit an indictable offence, viz.: to distribute drugs contrary to the "Opium and Narcotic Drug Act," between January 1, 1937 and March 13, 1937.

The trial was adjourned to allow evidence to be taken on commission on behalf of the accused in China. Mr. Castillon went to China as representative of the Attorney-General. The adjourned trial took place in Vancouver in January last, and the accused having been found guilty by the jury, were sentenced to seven years each in the penitentiary. The appeal is taken on a number of grounds, including misdirection by the trial judge and improper admission of evidence.

All of the accused gave notice of appeal, but Chang Sing Jung and Lee Hoy have since abandoned their appeals.

In his opening, Mr. McAlpine stated that it was not an offence under the act to distribute drugs, but is an offence to distribute drugs without a licence. He then argued that the charge as laid in the indictment did not disclose any offence as it did not allege that the accused conspired to distribute drugs without being licensed.

The Crown conceded that the appeal of Lum Hui should be allowed, and an order for his release was granted.

C. L. McAlpine, K.C., and J. Farley for the appellants; Douglas Donaghy, K.C., and H. Castillon for the Crown, respondent.
